

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL TALKED ON PLUMBING

Controversy Over Old Pipes in Memorial Building — Difference Between a Test and Inspection

The municipal council held quite a breezy meeting today. The pop did not show, however, until the matter of testing the old pipes at the Memorial building came up and then there was something doing. The mayor and Thomas P. Costello, the man who has the plumbing contract, exchanging courtesies. The most important item of business connected with the meeting had to do with the high school, the council instructing the city solicitor to notify the occupants of buildings in Anne and Kirk streets that they would have to vacate on or before Jan. 1, 1916. There was also a communication from the Genoa club, advising the council that the club would not accept the $17,150 offered by the city and that the club intended to invoke the remedies provided by law.

The city engineer submitted a plan having to do with the proposed seizure of all the land between Maiden lane and the First Congregational church in connection with the extension of Dummer street, giving the assessed valuation of the land and the estimated cost of making the buildings.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:45 with all members present and the first business had to do with pole locations and wire attachments.

Peter H. Monahan objected to the location of poles in Walnut street. He said the sidewalks are narrow there; that about all of the property owners object to poles and he thought it would be an easy matter to put the wires underground. The mayor read a letter of protest along the same lines as Mr. Monahan. The letter bore the number of signatures and the mayor said it seemed to him as if everybody on the street was opposed to the poles as petitioned for by the N. E. T. & Co. All of the remonstrances favored underground wires. The matter was referred to Commissioners Morse and Putnam.

The N. E. T. & Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. asked for joint locations in Riverside street and the matter was properly referred.

The Lowell Electric Light Corp. asked for six pole locations in Bellevue street and the petition was allowed to lay on the table for future reference.

Several petitions for sidewalks and street improvements were properly referred.

The petitions of Ernest G. Livingstone and Frank Jewett for garage and gasoline licenses were referred to Commissioner Carmichael and Fire Chief Saunders.

Several orders for pole locations were adopted, hearings having been held on the petitions at a previous meeting.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for pole locations in Broadway between Wilder and Role streets was referred to the proper committee.

An order allowing the Postal Cable company to lay conduits in Lawrence street was adopted.

JURORS DRAWN

The following traverse jurors, 20 in all, were drawn by Commissioner Morse, to serve at the criminal session of the superior court in this city, Wednesday, Nov. 3:

Dawson, 533 Middlesex street, manager; Hector Monette, 165 Cumberland road, teamster; Charles J. Davidson, 783 Merrimack street, stone-cutter; Edward Goodson, 151 Summer street, clerk; John J. Jackson, 120 Gates street, clerk; George T. Holden, 18 Mt. Grove street, machinist; Edward T. Cushing, 20 Chelmsford st. hotel; William A. Dow, 149 B. street, druggist; Frank Cayer, 547 Moody st. clerk; Daniel Doran, 178 School street, assistant superintendent; John J. Taylor, 29 Twelfth street, manager; George L. Ashworth, 110 Westford street, clerk.

High Fare Issue

The mayor read a letter from the public service commission addressed to City Clerk Flynn, advising the latter of the commission's receipt of the vote given by the municipal council relative to an investigation in Lowell and vicinity as to the necessity of the street railway company adopting a six-cent fare. The communication was received and placed on file.

BASEBALL

Baseball must be great and worthy when the president of the United States in war times attends the world's series.

A merchant would say of baseball, it's "all wool and a yard wide"—It is a game of exactness—It is a game of cool brain and steady eye—It is a game with a punch. Let's have more of the muscles of energy and eagerness of baseball in business. More in the city's civic work—More in making homes—It cannot but be good for the American people to throw themselves so thoroughly into everything they do that will be sure to win the championship.

THREE TRAINS HELD UP AND ROBBED BY BANDITS

20 Mexicans Inspired by Race Hatred, Wrecked Train, Robbed Passengers, Killed Three and Injured Five—Six Men Looted Two Freights and Attempted to Rob Express in New York — All Escaped

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 18.—Inspired by race hatred as well as a desire for loot, 20 Mexicans, who claimed to be followers of Luis de la Rosa, leader of the so-called Texas revolution, held up and robbed a train near Olmito, several miles north of here last night. As a result three men are dead, another is probably fatally wounded and four others are seriously hurt. The bandits are believed to have escaped into Mexico.

The scene of the robbery was three miles from the Rio Grande. The Mexicans as they fired at the train crew and passengers shouted: "Viva Pizarro! Viva Carranza!"

Pizarro was a co-leader with de la Rosa.

The train, south bound on the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico railroad, was wrecked before being attacked. United States soldiers took part in the battle with the bandits, and detachments of troops pursued them when they fled.

The dead: CORPORAL McKEE, third United States cavalry, shot.

ENGINEER H. H. KENDALL plowed beneath engine.

Mexican Passenger Shot

Unidentified young Mexican passenger, shot by Americans after robbery, for aiding robbers.

Dr. E. S. McCain, deputy state health officer at Brownsville, was shot in the abdomen. His injury probably is mortal.

Pulled Rail From Tracks

The bandits removed the spikes from a rail, and, lying concealed in the nearby brush, jerked this rail from under the nose of the engine with a long heavy wire. The engine, baggage and mail and express cars left the track. The day coach and smoking car remained on the rails. No Pullmans were carried and few passengers were aboard.

Constant Fire During Attack

The robbery was led by five or six Mexicans clad in khaki uniforms, while outside the train about 15 more Mexicans kept up a constant fire.

After the robbery the Mexicans burned a trestle north of them, which prevented prompt arrival of United States soldiers sent from San Benito.

Escaped in Auto

Six Men Fled After Robbing Freights and Attempting to Hold Up the Express

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Six armed men held up and robbed two freight trains and attempted to rob an American Express train on the West Shore railroad at the entrance to a tunnel between Congers and Haverstraw, N. Y., early today. After loading an automobile with packages taken from the two freight trains the bandits escaped.

Tampered With Wires

Arriving at the mouth of the tunnel in an automobile the robbers tampered with the wires controlling a signal and caused the light to show red. This halted the first freight train and as it stopped the holdup men appeared beside the locomotive and covered the engineer and fireman with revolvers. They then ripped open several freight cars and selected such packages as they wanted, loading them into their automobile. Then they ordered the engineer to proceed.

Tried to Rob Express

The second freight train was held up and robbed in a similar manner. When the American Express train stopped at the red signal the robbers neglected to station a man at the locomotive and all of them went back apparently with the intention of breaking into one of the cars. As soon as they were out of sight the engineer opened the throttle and started up the train.

No Clue to Robbers

The looted trains were stopped at West Haverstraw, the next station north from the scene of the holdup, and the crews gave the news of the robbery.

Sheriff Serven of Rockland county, and others attempted to pursue the fleeing robbers in an automobile but traced them only as far as Hackensack, N. J.

CARSON QUILTS CABINET

Said to Disagree With Other Ministers on Conduct of War—Redmond Says Crisis is at Hand

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Sir Edward Carson, attorney general, has resigned from the British cabinet.

The resignation, the first open manifestation of the divergence of views known to exist among the ministers, is the result, according to an authoritative statement, not of the controversy over conscription, but of the condition of affairs in the near east.

Sir Edward himself, so far, has made no personal explanation of his reasons for resigning; but it is understood that he disapproves of the policy which is being followed in the Balkans and of the method of conducting the whole national policy to a small "inner cabinet."

It is expected that there will be exciting debates in the house of commons this week, as severe attacks on the government are planned by members of the house in connection with the conscription bill, especially in the near east.

Sir Edward Carson, prior to the outbreak of the war, was the leader of the movement against home rule for Ireland, which for a time threatened civil war in Ireland. At that time he was a member of parliament for the county of Dublin and gained great notoriety for his speeches attacking the government and the sympathizers of home rule and threatening, in case the king signed the home rule bill, to aid in setting up a provisional government in Ulster.

He was the first to sign the covenant of resistance to home rule and led the Ulsterites in the formation of the Ulster volunteers.

He went to Germany and was dined by the Kaiser while ostensibly planning a rebellion in Ireland. It is alleged also that the arms he imported for his volunteers were of German make.

When the present coalition government was formed last May Sir Edward was given the portfolio of attorney general. At that time he was in the papers expressed the view that this appointment was a mistake, in view of his previous antagonism to the government.

The most notable cases with which Sir Edward has had to deal since his enunciation of the attorney generalship were the board of trade inquiry into the sinking of the Lusitania and the proceedings before the prize court for the condemnation of American meat cargoes which had been seized by the Germans.

The resignation of Sir Edward Carson, attorney general, was the first proof of differences in the cabinet. The reason assigned for his withdrawal is disagreement with the cabinet's policy in regard to the near east, but the specific point of division is withheld, as in the case of the retirement of Foreign Minister Del Castele, in whose footsteps Sir Edward appears to follow.

The cabinet and the country as a whole would regard a general election on party lines as a calamity. If such a contest was fought on the question of conscription it might be expected to foment great bitterness and class dissension.

The anti-conscriptionist newspapers are demanding that a fair trial be given to the plan of voluntary enlistment under the direction of the Earl of Derby before there is any further talk of a change.

Much discussion is heard of the injection of fresh and younger blood into the cabinet. Only a few weeks ago David Lloyd George had a large following but the anti-conscriptionists, virtually all of whom are in his own party, now seem to be lukewarm toward him.

One complaint from the newspapers is that a cabinet of 22 members is too cumbersome a body to manage the affairs of the government. On the other hand, there is said to be dissatisfaction in the cabinet that the conduct of the war is given over to a small group of men.

The recall of Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton from the Dardanelles and the succession to command of a younger leader, Gen. Sir Charles Munro, may be significant of a policy of bringing in new blood. Most of the general's holdings in the Dardanelles campaign were more than 65 years old and there has been complaint that the army is clinging to the old policy of promotion by seniority alone while naval officers in high positions average more than ten years younger.

The Irish Times (Dublin) comments upon the events of the day, saying: "We make two inferences. One is that the Dardanelles campaign is not going to be abandoned. The other is that in this quarter—and we hope in all other quarters—the war is going to be prosecuted with new vigor and purpose."

Irish Leader Says Coalition Government Is Threatened by Men Ready to Sacrifice National Unity

DUBLIN, Oct. 18.—President of the national convention yesterday, John E. Redmond said that a grave political crisis might arise any day. The position of the coalition government, he declared, is precarious. It is threatened by internal and external dangers. A conspiracy existed among men ready to sacrifice national unity in the face of the enemy to further their own political ambitions and theories.

It is common talk, said the Irish leader, that a general election is possible, but Ireland could boast that she is not responsible for these dangers.

CAUSE OF DIFFERENCES

Conscription Issue and the Near East Question Causes Break in British Cabinet

LONDON, Oct. 18, 11.35 a. m.—Great Britain is waiting anxiously to learn whether the cabinet ministers will be able to compose their differences and continue the government without snapping at each other in military difficulties which confront the allies have taken a position of secondary importance for the time being.

The cabinet has been holding long and frequent meetings since the Balkan crisis developed. Both newspapers and politicians agree that vital differences of opinion have arisen over the conscription issue and the near east question. In the meantime party newspapers are carrying on a bitter debate and exchanging accusations of lack of patriotism and of placing party and private interests above those of the country.

The resignation of Sir Edward Carson, attorney general, was the first proof of differences in the cabinet. The reason assigned for his withdrawal is disagreement with the cabinet's policy in regard to the near east, but the specific point of division is withheld, as in the case of the retirement of Foreign Minister Del Castele, in whose footsteps Sir Edward appears to follow.

ANURIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years prove that there is no other eliminant of uric acid that can be compared to it. For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—as backache, swelling urine and frequent urination, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

"SPEECHLESS" BANQUET

SAN FRANCISCO TELEGRAPHERS HONOR THOMAS A. EDISON—ADDRESS BY WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, October 18.—A "speechless" banquet with the customary addresses, arranged by San Francisco telegraphers in honor of Thomas A. Edison, telegraph operator, is to be held at the San Francisco club tonight. At each speaker's place a telephone key with connecting poles to carry the wires around the table has been arranged. The addresses of welcome are to be typed out to Mr. Edison, who is expected to respond in dots and dashes.

The menu was written in "Morse." A brilliant electrical illumination of the city tonight was a part of the program arranged by city officials in honor of Mr. Edison. A feature of the illumination will be flashing into the sky of electrical messages of welcome.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The year 1890 will ever be recalled by the old time democrats as one of the greatest years in history for in this grand old commonwealth they achieved something that previously had been thought beyond the range of possibility, the election of a democratic governor. But they did something else also thought to be impossible, for they elected Hon. Moses T. Stevens, a democrat, to congress over Hon. Frederic T. Greenhalge in the old eighth congressional district and they've never elected a democratic congressman since. Russell carried Lowell by 924 and Stevens by 525. Gov. Russell was known as the "boy governor" and became a popular hero from Maine to California. In the same year, also, Hon. John E. Drury, former alderman and "patron saint" of the famous Drury Lane Boat, Life-Saving and Political club came in.

The campaign in Lowell quarter of a century ago was far different from the state campaign of today. Big state rallies were held in Huntington hall while the different ward democratic clubs held rallies and there was far more enthusiasm on both sides than is manifest today. This is due in a measure to the fact that the commission form of government has put the local partisan organizations out of commission. The present governor, Hon. David I. Walsh, however, more closely resembles the incumbent Russell, in youth, energy and general popularity than perhaps any governor who has been elected in quarter of a century.

Just 25 years ago tomorrow night, a great outpouring of democratic citizens generally, packed old Huntington hall to hear Hon. William E. Russell, at the big state rally. The old Sun says that every nook and corner of the hall was filled, and that the popular chairman of the Huntington hall was from our country, Col. James H. Carmichael called to order, as he was chairman of the democratic city committee of that day. And that reminds me, the colonel will soon occupy the 25th anniversary of his title for it was the same day, Nov. 1, 1890, when he made him a member of his official military family with the rank of colonel, not quite, but almost 25 years ago. He had to be elected governor first before he could bestow the honor on the democratic city committee, and this rally took place on the eve of his election. Col. A. A. Haggitt, Lowell's democratic postmaster was the vice-president and there were about 40 of the faithful of the platform as guards of honor for Hon. William E. Russell and Hon. John W. Corcoran, who was Russell's running-mate at the head of the ticket. In those days the postmaster-general wasn't so fussy about postmasters mingling in politics, and Col. Haggitt might have been in and while out of office. Col. Haggitt, after assuming the audience that personally he had nothing against Congressman Greenhalge, he proceeded to say him. He stated also that Congressman Greenhalge was with the democrats and Mr. Greeley ran for president, but afterward fell from grace. Apparently the fall didn't hurt the popular Lowell man to any extent for afterward he was not only a congressman but a governor. Hon. John W. Corcoran, in his speech called Henry Cabot Lodge and his policies and for a quarter of a century Henry Cabot Lodge and his policies have received an annual tribute, but still holds the fort. Mr. Russell received an ovation and he kept the audience at a high pitch of enthusiasm. He was a most pleasing and forceful speaker and made a big hit with his audiences wherever he appeared.

About the same time the democrats of ward 6, which in these days meant Belvidere, held a rally, and Daniel J. Donahue, the first speaker, got after the White Book. The tannery men whom he accused of passing out republican bulletins to their employees with the understanding that they would not vote any other ticket with safety. The coming of the Australian ballot put that practice out of commission. Mr. Donahue realized and named Mr. Charles H. Hobson for representative for the next three years. He had not heard of the name of Moore and was a democrat. And here he is today a republican, and he's a democrat, yet for his assistance of tragic but poetic irony, he and Abe Goldman are still standing on the local progressive dock whence all but them have fled.

And speaking of the political affairs of quarter of a century ago, the Central Labor union was quite active relative to the attitude of the candidates for state office on legislative matters affecting the interests of the working class and we find that in this campaign the Central had sent notices

FRESHMEN AT TEXTILE

THEY HAZED SEVERAL SOPHOMORES DOWN TOWN LAST NIGHT—WATCHED BY BIG CROWD

The freshmen of the Lowell Textile school got busy last evening and put it all over the sophomores of the school and indeed it was a surprise, for as a rule the sophomores are always in the lead. Several freshmen gathered at Merrimack square and the first sophomore to fall into their clutches was Merrill Morris, who was put through all the antics that his captors could think of, much to the delight of the crowd of 200 or more, who watched the proceedings with evident relish.

Later on the freshmen went up Merrimack street, and when near city hall they captured Berry, the husky football halfback, and forced him to auction off city hall, but Berry made his escape before the deed was passed over to the highest bidder. The fun was kept up until a reasonable hour at the expense of the sophomores, but it is expected that the latter will soon have their day.

Chairman Edward P. Neasey of the democratic city committee presided. In the audience were a number of prominent republicans.

The governor began his night's campaigning at Town hall, Milton, where James E. Gallagher, chairman of the democratic town committee, presided. Gov. Walsh was met by Congressman Richard Olney 2d, who followed him throughout the district.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "biliousness" and that lousy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, when you feel "lousy" and "bilious." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

"Is not this one more of the many proofs of the power of the 'invisible government' to substitute their wishes for the people's will and render unavailing the attempts of the publicly organized representatives of the people to protect their interest?"

"Is not this example herein set forth, with other illustrations of the power of 'invisible government' cited by me in this campaign sufficient to prove beyond question that 'invisible government' is a crime against our free institutions and deserves the condemnation of every man who throws a ballot, because it nullifies his influence and deceives the voters by substituting the shadow for the substance of free government?"

RETIRE FROM POLICE

HUB INSPECTOR ON FORCE 37 YRS.—HELPED INSTALL BERTILLON SYSTEM IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Inspector George F. Pinkerton, 37 years a member of the police department, and its oldest clerk, celebrated his 65th birthday anniversary yesterday. Under the law he is automatically retired, as he joined the force April 18, 1878. The retirement papers will probably be sent by Commissioner O'Meara to Mayor Curley this week.

Inspector Pinkerton, who, with the late "Tom" Barry, installed the Bertillon system here, and knew most of the old-time crooks and many of the new ones by sight, has long been regarded as one of the department's most valuable men.

After his appointment Inspector Pinkerton was detailed to the Joy street station as a patrolman. During the great storm of February, 1882, he was crushed between two cars and several ribs were broken. He was not able to return to duty until the following October, when he was made clerk to Capt. Ford, then in charge of the West End police, and remained in that position 12 years.

May 29, 1887, he was appointed clerk to Chief Inspector Ransom and began his long career in the detective bureau at headquarters. On Nov. 2, 1889, he was sent back to station J, where he remained five years. He returned to headquarters Aug. 21, 1894, and the following May was appointed inspector.

When it was decided to establish a Bertillon system at headquarters, he was put in charge of the work with the late Inspector Barry. They worked at first with a makeshift apparatus, and took their own measurements, which, to this day, form a part of the records at headquarters.

Inspector Pinkerton is a 324 degree Mason, a member of Vulcan lodge, American Order of United Workmen, Boston Light Infantry veterans and 2d Light Battery Veterans. For 25 years he has been treasurer of Vulcan lodge.

He inaugurated the system in use at headquarters for making records of prisoners and arrests, and during his service there has filled more than 25 volumes between two covers and several records. Previous to his time the records were made on bits of paper which were afterward destroyed.

NASHUA STRIKE TROUBLE

No Outbreak Reported Today— —Strikers Ready to Stop All Shipments—Police Court Cases

There was no serious disturbance in the Nashua strike this morning, although the strikers were in a mood all morning and assembled in a crowd at the headquarters opposite the mill of the Nashua Mfg. Co.

The strikers, it seems, are determined to stop shipments from the factory and to prevent also, if they can, the sending of any food into the factory for the small number of men at work. The company is thus held in a state of siege, unable to make a move of any kind except under military protection. In spite of the opposition, however, wagons loaded with provisions passed the mill today under military guard.

Strikers on Duty

The strikers, nothing daunted by their experience of yesterday, when a number of them received a bad beating at the hands of the police and militiamen, were at the gates of the Nashua Mfg. Co. early this morning and remained on duty during the entire day. No attempt to ship goods or receive material was made by the company during the day, and no provisions were brought inside the gates to feed the militiamen. It is said that an attempt to either ship manufactured goods or send in food to the millmen will result in a disturbance even more serious than that of yesterday.

Sidewalks Patrolled

Today the sidewalks surrounding the big plant of the Nashua Manufacturing Co. were patrolled by militiamen and police. A slight outbreak occurred early in the morning when three newspaper photographers attempted to take pictures of the militiamen, but no one was injured. According to reports the camera men acted within the full limits of the law and did not trespass upon any land owned by the company, but posted their machines in the middle of the factory street in front of the plant. Hardly had their machines been set, when the captain of one of the companies ordered them away and threatened to destroy their machines unless the order was speedily complied with. The photographers refused to move and the captain did not carry out his threat. Several hundred strikers who overheard the conversation between the militiamen and the camera men hissed and jeered the captain and it is said stones were thrown.

Conference Thursday

Former Mayor William H. Barry, counsel for the strikers, agreed last night to meet Agent W. H. Caldwell of the Jackson Manufacturing Co. in a conference on the question of wages at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. In a letter to Mayor James B. Crowley, made public last night, Mr. Barry asked that the mayor use his influence, "in the interests of humanity," to stop shipments of goods and receipt of material by the manufacturing plants concerned, until an adjustment of the trouble with their employees is reached.

The conference on Thursday will be attended by Mayor Barry and the following strikers' committee: Albina Valencz, Mabel Carney, William Tormerlich, John Keefo, Charles Nadjek and Peter Tannhulius.

Strikers Arraigned

The six strikers who were arrested yesterday following the riot were arraigned before Judge Clancy in the morning. Police court this morning. Through their counsel they asked for a continuance until tomorrow which was granted and each was held in the sum of $500. All were bailed out.

Story of Yesterday's Trouble

The Nashua strike situation took on a very grim aspect yesterday when one man was shot in the abdomen and four women taken to St. Joseph's hospital suffering from wounds sustained in rioting which occurred early in the morning. A few hours before the big riot two milk men and a fruit dealer were held up at the mill gate when they attempted to deliver supplies to the militia. Cans of milk from one of the delivery carts were poured into a sewer and one of the drivers employed at the Roby Farm dairy was so badly injured that he was unable to continue work for the day.

The main trouble occurred when a shifting crew of the Boston & Maine railroad attempted to shift a train of cars in the yard of the Nashua Manufacturing Co., where the strike started two weeks ago. The siding tracks were blocked by a dense throng which refused to move. Every available policeman was rushed to the scene when news of threatened trouble was reported, but the force was unable to cope with the situation and the militia was ordered to assist.

The Riot

Advancing with fixed bayonets the militiamen succeeded in clearing the tracks. A cordon of guardsmen established themselves on each line of the track facing the crowd of strikers and the police advanced down toward the crossing where the freight train was standing. The militia, led by an officer with an automatic revolver, came up the track from the mill yard with fixed bayonets. As the two forces met, the strikers were forced into a space between two fences, which run beside the railroad tracks. Meanwhile the police and militia were showered with stones from the outskirts of the crowd. Adam Raszewski, who was standing some distance up the tracks when the militia was in full progress received a bullet in the abdomen, while several men and women were badly beaten as the result of the use of night sticks in the hands of the police, or bayonets in the hands of the militiamen. It is said that until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon was the situation somewhat cleared and the train shunted down the tracks to the mill yard. The mill gates were then closed and the crowd dispersed.

Police Inspector Walter E. Dean received a scalp wound inflicted with a baton during the rioting, and Adam Petroski, who also received a bad bruise, was arrested charged with assault. Other persons arrested were two women, Frances Rakewitch and Sofia Gravitka, Martin Caspar, John Bolopka and Justin Kamonski.

Hold Up Team

One of the Nashua Baking Company's teams was held up at supper time, 6 o'clock Saturday evening after it had been into the mill yard delivered by the militia and others working in the mill. In coming out of the yard some of the strikers held up the team near Walnut street and were going to do damage to the contents and driver. There was a call sent in for the militia and they left their supper and came down through the mill yard on the "double quick" and out of the office gate, dispersing the crowd which had collected around the baker's cart. There was no damage done but for a few minutes it looked as though there might be a riot.

Stop Fruit Man

While delivering fruit to the Nashua Manufacturing company yesterday morning, Fred Rechella of the Boston Fruit company, on Main street, was told by the strikers that he must not bring fruit or other things up there, and that if he did he would meet with trouble.

He was up about 10 o'clock and there was a mob ready for him as he came out of the gate with the team.

Stoned Milkman

Leon R. Moss, the milkman who has been delivering milk to the Nashua Manufacturing company since the strike has been on, was stoned yesterday morning about six o'clock by the picketers as he came out of the gate. Since the mill has been closed and the militia on duty, Mr. Moss has driven his truck up there to deliver six cans of milk and yesterday morning was the first time he was molested. He saw the crowd gathering around, then sticks and stones began to fly and he put on full speed and got away. If he had been in his team, no doubt serious damage would have been done, both to the team and the horse. He, however, was unhurt and the current reports that he was seriously hurt are without ground.

Strikers' Meetings

Two speakers from Boston, J. G. Glaguzis, proprietor of the "Kolevis" newspaper, and S. E. Vitalis, manager of the Athletic Publishing corporation, addressed a thronged meeting of strikers held in Hamilton hall Sunday at 2 p. m. They urged all to persevere and remain united to the end.

Women decided at a special meeting, called by the strikers, the evening before, to stop trains going to the mills of the Nashua Manufacturing company.

Pickets were on duty all night to prevent anyone going to the mills. Strikers announced yesterday that they had become aware of a novel way of transporting men into the mills, put in practice here. This consists of placing men in the big wooden cases carried into the storehouse.

CITY HALL NEWS

and Mr. Chase says he never told you so.

"I did not say that Mr. Chase told me so," replied Mr. Costello. "I told you I had heard he said so."

Mayor Murphy said that Architect Graves had told him there was no necessity of testing the pipes in question and in answer to that Mr. Costello produced a letter from Mr. Graves in which Mr. Costello was warned not to proceed with new work until the test, in question, was made.

Mr. Putnam gave as his opinion that the test should be made in the regular way. The mayor said he did not think that $500 should be spent on the test. "The testers could burst the pipes if they wanted to," said the mayor. "They could put on as much power as they wanted."

"We don't do business that way," put in Mr. Costello. "Of course we could use dynamite but we don't. We use as much pressure as is necessary. We don't try to see how many joints we can break."

"I have said so before and I repeat that the work should be done by the day and if Mr. Putnam tells me to go ahead and do the work by the day I will do so."

"But you were going to charge $500 for the work?" said the mayor. "Not if it is done by the day."

"But don't you think it can be done a good deal cheaper than $500?"

"Yes."

"Then I think the council was justified in holding it up."

"The trouble is, Mr. Mayor," said Mr. Costello, "that you have been misinformed all the way through. You have mixed testing and examining. I hope that the work will be done for one-fifth of $500."

Mr. Putnam asked Mr. Costello if he had looked over the contract and specifications and Mr. Costello said he had not seen the contract.

Agent Bates of the board of health was sent for and in reply to the mayor's questions stated that Inspectors Garrity and Connors had gone over the pipes at the Memorial building and had found that they were all right. They reported, he said, that the water put in the pipes ran off clearly.

Inspection was asked about a pipe in the sub-basement that was leaking and Mr. Garrity said it had been fixed.

Mr. Costello said that there is a pipe leaking in the building. He said the pipe may have been leaking for years.

"But I want to call your attention, gentlemen, to the fact," he said, "that letting water flow through a pipe does not constitute a test. The pipe hasn't been tested."

Mr. Garrity believed the pipes should be properly tested. He could not pass on the cost of such a test.

More was said about the price and the mayor presumed that Mr. Costello was not in the business for his health, whereupon Mr. Costello retorted: "No, and you are not here for your health. You didn't think your promise not to run again next year, for your health, did you?"

"I am not going to see the city mulcted out of $500," said the mayor. "It makes no difference who the man is I am going to protect the city's money."

"Makes no difference who the man is," echoed Mr. Costello. "It makes all the difference in the world," he continued, "and I guess I am the wrong man."

Mr. Costello then turned to Inspector Garrity and asked: "If this controversy hadn't arisen wouldn't you think those pipes should have been tested?"

Mr. Garrity said that he would.

"This is the smallest piece of business," said Mr. Costello, "that I have ever seen done at city hall. If it was a $25 proposition, I suppose the mayor would go out and spend $50,000 on it."

"I will look after the city's interests every time," put in the mayor.

In reference to Mr. Costello's remark relative to the way that $500 had been asked for the mayor for examining the pipes, Mr. Carmichael said the brick work should be handled in the same manner as the pipe testing and he thought it might be well for the council to rescind its vote in the matter and have Mr. Putnam call for bids. He would be in favor, he said, of granting Mr. Putnam power to spend a sum not exceeding $500 for the removal of the Coburn side of the Memorial building. He believed that the pipe testing should also be left to Mr. Putnam.

Building in on Putnam

After having taken very little part in the controversy, Commissioner Duncan looked up from beneath his glasses and remarked that he had been very anxious to take Mr. Putnam's authority away from him. "We are all the time butting in and I do not see why. It would seem that we have not the necessary confidence in him. I believe that all questions such as the brick work and pipe testing should be left to him. He is not going out to mulct the city. He will not spend money unnecessarily."

Other members of the council hastened to state that they were not endeavoring to usurp any authority belonging to Mr. Putnam, but Mr. Duncan said that actions spoke louder than words. It was finally decided to let the pipe testing matter go until a meeting was held at which the architects and Inspector Connors could be heard.

ITALY HAS DECLARED WAR AGAINST BULGARIA—FIGHTING IN SERBIA

LONDON, Oct. 19, 11:54 a. m.—Italy has declared war against Bulgaria, but the question whether she will send troops to join the British and French forces in Serbia remains as obscure as the results of the fighting raging on Serbia's eastern frontier. The Austro-German armies which occupied Belgrade appear to have advanced more than 100 miles south of the city but the outcome of the fighting between Bulgarians and Serbians along the important Saloniki-Nish railway cannot be summed up so easily.

At two points, the northernmost of which is Vranja, the Bulgarians assert they have reached this railroad, while to the south the Serbians are reported to have driven back the invaders.

Both Athens and Paris maintain that French troops have occupied Strumitza in southwestern Bulgaria, but there are available no official reports relating to the struggle in this quarter. It is expected until the fighting reaches a more conclusive stage.

KNOWLES MURDER CASE NO LICENSE CAMPAIGN

TALK OF AN ARREST—SUSPECTS MOVEMENTS ARE DESCRIBED BY COLBY

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 19.—Albert Colby, who says he carried the revolver which killed Judge William S. Knowles on Monday last, was examined yesterday by the medical board of the police surgeon, and a report will be submitted to Sheriff Wilcox.

Dr. Griffin stated last night, however, that there is nothing the matter with Colby except a slight nervous attack, that he is rational in discourse, and all subjects, including the part he played in the Knowles tragedy. In the interests of a man to whom Colby says he delivered the murder gun, Colby was also taken to Butler Hospital for the insane and examined as to his sanity.

The authorities had Thomas Bernard, a ball player, at the court house last night and he denied that he ever received or transmitted a telephone message from Colby Sunday, Sept. 5, to "be all ready for that job in the morning." The man said he knew nothing of the murder of Judge Knowles.

Bernard was induced to try on a coat which Colby said belonged to the former. It had been found hanging on a tree near the bungalow, at the scene of the Knowles murder. Bernard denied that he ever saw the coat before, and claimed it did not fit him.

Colby told the authorities last night that he had recalled some additional incidents which occurred soon after the tragedy. The information related to the movements of the man in whom he said the revolver was under suspicion. The latest disclosure by Colby caused Sheriff Wilcox to seek a conference late last night with Atty.-General Rice.

Last night an arrest was being talked of with some seriousness, and it was stated that the investigation was now being secured much additional information without taking such a step.

Colby is 32 years old and he belongs in Middlesex, Mass., where his sister resides.

CALLS MONROE DOCTRINE BLUFF

Prof. Hart of Harvard Tells Worcester Audience This Plan Will No Longer Keep Europe Out

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—Addressing the Worcester Congregational club last night Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard university, characterized the Monroe Doctrine as a policy which has kept Europe's nations out of the Western Hemisphere in the past practically by bluffing, a plan which, he said, will no longer succeed.

Today, Prof. Hart declared, if the United States intends to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, she must be willing to defend it. "Preparation," he said, "is the only adequate proof that the United States wants the Monroe Doctrine."

Continuing, Prof. Hart said: "The United States must do one or two things if she would continue to uphold the Monroe Doctrine. Either she must stand up for it as a question of principle, a mutual understanding among the nations sufficient to preserve the world's peace; or else, if peace cannot be reached, then the United States must do what is necessary at least to protect her own coast from foreign invasion."

Today, he remarked, "the shadow of Monroe" can no longer frighten European nations away from the western hemisphere, while it would not be a very great undertaking to get troops across the water.

Prof. Hart noted how the United States has developed a system of protectorates of at least five Central American republics and every island of the West Indies except Jamaica. When it came to the actual point at which European nations might land in this hemisphere, Prof. Hart pointed out, the United States herself did the landing and has undertaken to see that no Latin-American republic shall give offense to Europe. This policy, he observed, naturally argues that in the course of time a protectorate for Mexico will also come about, and this entire plan, he added, is likely to be anything but satisfactory to the South American republics.

INTERESTING EXHIBIT AT 50 CENTRAL STREET—SHOWS EVILS OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC

A volunteer committee of 150 men and women working under the auspices of the Flying Squadron is conducting a unique campaign against the liquor traffic in Lowell this week. Walter A. Chase is the chairman of the committee and there is a very interesting exhibit at 50 Central street. The exhibit opened yesterday afternoon and will remain open daily from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. until Sunday night. Cards have been provided and signatures of individuals will be sought, endorsing the national campaign for no license and national prohibition. The poster campaign is complete. The scientific aspect of the liquor problem is told in terse sentences in large type. The various ways in which the evils of the liquor business are illustrated are really astonishing.

The show windows display $51 worth of groceries and the legend attached says: "The food displayed here represents what may be bought in Lowell for $51, the expenditure of the average family in the United States for drink." The whole exhibit is along this line, giving some concrete illustration of the cost of the liquor drinking habit to the city, the state and the family as well as the individual.

In the other show window is a reproduction of the famous Parisian painting which made a hit at the Salon, entitled "Pay Day." The other displays give details of the effect of drink and its relation to the prisons, crime, mortality and heredity. The center of the room is devoted to a large mural on which the effects of drink are shown in the form of a map. A card bears the figures which tell how much liquor is worth to Massachusetts. It is announced that the product value of the liquor traffic in this state is $18,470,000 a year while the amount paid for labor in the liquor industry is $2,749,000. To point a moral it is declared on this same card that the product value of the cotton manufactures in Lowell is $26,785,270 a year and the amount paid in wages $6,396,838. This is calculated to emphasize the smaller proportion of the wages in the liquor industry as compared to an industry like the cotton mills.

WANTS INDICTMENT QUASHED

Issued Ten Years Ago in Boston

Against Mrs. Dahlin of Denver for Alleged Kidnaping

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Belle Fenwick Dahlin, 10 years ago the central figure in a court fight that attracted national interest when Gov. McDonald refused extradition papers for her return to Boston, will ask the authorities there to quash the indictment pending against her for kidnaping, that she may visit her former home.

Ten years ago Mrs. Dahlin, then Mrs. Fenwick, was the sister-in-law of John H. Sully of Boston. After the death of her sister, Mrs. Dahlin claimed that her two nieces were not receiving proper attention in the home where Sully placed them. She took the younger to Norfolk, Va., and came to Denver.

Legal proceedings were instituted against her and she was indicted on the charge of kidnaping. The governor of Massachusetts issued requisition papers for her return to Boston, but the governor of Colorado refused to honor them when he learned the circumstances.

Mrs. Dahlin wishes to visit her old home and attend to property interests and will petition for the quashing of the indictment to prevent molestation.

A NEW SUBMARINE BASE

Seven Undersea Boats Arrive at New London With Tenders and Flagship

NEW LONDON, Oct. 19.—Seven submarines, G-1, G-2, G-4, B-1, D-1, D-2 and D-3, accompanied by the monitors Tononah and Ozark as tenders and by the destroyer Columbia as flagship, Rear Admiral Albert W. Grant, arrived in New London harbor yesterday from Newport, R. I., to open the new submarine base at the navy yard, more than two miles up the Thames river.

The Columbia anchored off New London light, but the submarines and tenders proceeded immediately up the river, and the undersea craft tied up at the docks at the navy yard.

QUARANTINE IS LIFTED

LID OFF MILCH COWS AT BRIGHTON STOCKYARDS MORE THAN FIFTEEN DAYS

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The quarantine on the Brighton stockyards was lifted only with respect to the milch cows which were there when the lid was clapped on 15 days ago, and still applies to the barn as far as allowing cows to enter for sale. About one-half of the cows which were caught when the quarantine was declared have been sold since the state department of animal industry gave permission to hold sales on Friday afternoon.

No public auctions are permitted. Cattle from all over New England for immediate slaughter are being received, just as they have been all the time. They go to a different part of the yard and have in no way been affected by the quarantine, because the federal and state inspectors look them over both before and after they are killed, and condemn any that are diseased. The danger to human beings, which is small in any case, it is claimed, lies in the chance for infection from the living animals.

These conditions will continue at Brighton until after the 10 federal and state inspectors who have made one round of the 1200 farms in the vicinity of Leicester, where the disease was found on one farm, and completed their second inspection trip over the same ground. The second trip is merely to make doubly sure that no cases arise from infection which was incubating but had not been evident when the first trip was made. If after the second trip, it is found that there is no case of the disease outside the place in Leicester, when New England cows will be let into the barn at Brighton again and public auctions will once more be permitted.

REFUSES MOTTO OF HATRED

English Church Official Bars Memorial Inscription, "Murdered On Lusitania By Germans"

LONDON, Oct. 19.—"The wall of a church is not an appropriate place to perpetuate hatred," was the reason given by Sir Philip Whitham, chancellor of the diocese of Chester, when refusing to permit a memorial tablet to a victim of the Lusitania in a Holyoke church to bear the inscription "Who was murdered on the Lusitania by the Germans."

The word "murdered," Sir Philip said, would have to be taken out of the tablet. The chancellor then suggested that the inscription should read, "Who lost his life when the Lusitania was torpedoed by the Germans." This was agreed to.

Supreme Court Reverses Award of $541.60 to Worcester Woman in Suit Over a Piano

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—An award of $541.60 that Mrs. Catherine E. O'Brien, a church organist in Worcester, secured in the superior court in a suit to recover for a piano she claimed was a wedding gift from her husband, the late Dr. O'Brien of Clinton, is overturned by decision handed down yesterday from supreme court.

Mrs. O'Brien brought the suit against Mrs. Agnes A. McSherry of Holyoke, a daughter of Dr. O'Brien by a former marriage. Mrs. McSherry claimed the instrument was conveyed to her by her father, Judge Walt, in superior court, forwarded Mrs. O'Brien $541.60, but supreme court decides that the statute of limitations bars the plaintiff from recovery.

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—The will of Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, widow of Iver Johnson, head of the Iver Johnson Arms and Cycle works, in Fitchburg, disposing of an estate of $3,000,000, most of which came to her as an award from the supreme court in a contest in which her son, Frederick I. Johnson, claimed a one-fourth share, was filed yesterday in the probate court. This son receives only $1000 under the terms of the will. The death of Mrs. Johnson means the distribution of the $1,000,000 estate of her husband.

Mrs. Johnson's testament makes a specific bequest to Mrs. Mary L. Johnson, a daughter, in addition to her real estate that she received from her mother prior to her death. She is left all the personal effects of the testatrix, $20,000 outright in cash immediately, and is named as trustee of two life trusts, each of $5000 each for the benefit of Miss Louise Johnson and Miss Jennie Adams, both of Worcester, these funds to go to daughter at the termination of the life trusts.

To the son, Frederick I. Johnson, is bequeathed $1000, and to two other sons, John Lovell Johnson and Walter O. Johnson, $12,500 each. Mrs. Jennie Harrington of Worcester and Mrs. Jane Pratt of Shrewsbury, sisters of the testatrix, are given $10,000 each.

Bequests of $5000 each are made to Dr. William H. Bennett of Fitchburg, the family physician, and to John Harmon of Fitchburg, a servant. The residue of the property is to be divided equally among the daughter, Mrs. Otto, and the two sons, John and Frederick.

Lovell Johnson and Walter O. Johnson, the last two being named executors, Attorney Charles F. Choate, Jr. filed the will.

The estate of Iver Johnson, estimated at $500,000 at his death 20 years ago, was left by him to his wife to care for herself and their four children during her life. The business and property of the Iver Johnson Arms and Cycle company increased after the death of Iver Johnson. The son, Frederick I. Johnson, was for some time general manager of the business.

Equity proceedings were brought in probate court to determine whether the Iver Johnson will created a trust fund for the benefit of the widow and family, with Mrs. Johnson as trustee, and whether the money was left to her and she was to care for the children from the income. A second issue was as to whom belonged the surplus income from the estate, beyond the amount necessary to support the family. Frederick I. Johnson, claimed a one-fourth interest in the surplus, asserting that his father's estate was a trust fund.

At the hearing in probate court a few years ago estimates were submitted to show that the principal of the Iver Johnson estate had about doubled and that Mrs. Johnson had surplus profits of nearly $1,000,000. The case was taken to supreme court, and it was decided that a trust fund was created by the Iver Johnson will, but the surplus profits were awarded to Mrs. Johnson subsequent to the litigation. The son, Frederick I. Johnson, was deposed from the post of general manager of the plant in Fitchburg, over which his mother exercised control.

The death of Mrs. Johnson makes the Iver Johnson estate available for equal division among the four children under the provisions of his will of 20 years ago.

WALSH TO McCALL

Mr. McCall and his supporters are having a ticklish experience in so criticizing the present state administration that the blame for alleged abuses shall fall on Governor Walsh without throwing any shadow on the republican senate or the republican house. We hear a great deal about the "cost of government," the "inefficiency in commissions," the so-called "inefficiency," and all the other things which the unselfish republicans are burning to remedy, but we do not hear of the persistent opposition of the last session of the legislature to Governor Walsh and his policies; neither do we hear that every financial transaction of the past year was passed and approved by a legislature on which Governor Walsh had frequently urged the necessity for economy. As a cure for the flaws which have been so recently discovered, the republican party of Massachusetts suggests that the people shall elect a governor who shall be in full accord with the republican legislature and who may be able to get full sanction and support for any policies he may wish to push through. Does this look like reform? Those familiar with the legislature of 1915 do not think so.

At several rallies held last Saturday Governor Walsh paid his respects to the republican senate of 1915 and asked Mr. McCall for a pledge that his influence shall be exercised in future in behalf of truly representative government and in opposition to star chamber methods and legislative secrecy. The governor referred to the methods of the last senate as "invisible government," and to those who would scoff he presents facts and proofs which neither Mr. McCall nor the leaders of the senate can dissipate. The governor condemns practices which many have suspected but from which he has suffered when, in the cause of the people, he presented progressive measures obnoxious to the majority in the legislature or to the powerful few who shaped its dealings.

To prove his open charge, Mr. Walsh related his experience with the republican senate relative to some insurance reforms which he wished passed in accordance with popular demand. Believing that certain insurance companies were guilty of discrimination in dealing with classes of employees the governor sent a special message to the legislature in which he recommended remedial legislation. The subject was submitted by the legislature to a special commission composed of two republicans and one democrat. After investigating, this commission recommended the passage of five acts. The joint committee on judiciary of the legislature unanimously approved these recommendations and reported upon them. No one openly opposed the proposed law. Even the representatives of the insurance companies professed to be satisfied. Were the laws passed then? No, indeed! With one exception, every recommendation was rejected by the republican legislature without even a roll call. In the words of Governor Walsh, "Can it be doubted that the real agency which brought about their defeat was not the people of this state, but the old-fashioned 'invisible government'?"

What explanation can Mr. McCall, the leader of the republican party in this campaign, give to the people of Massachusetts for the rejection by the senate of Massachusetts, without even a roll call, of these proposed laws recommended after extended hearings by a non-partisan commission and approved by the joint judiciary committee of the legislature without a dissenting voice?

It was really brought about by "invisible government" otherwise known as "the system," which candidate does invisible government support? Not David I. Walsh, the governor who was so consistently and insidiously opposed by a legislature which tried to prevent his getting the credit for any progressive reform. In all his public speeches during his term of office, Governor Walsh did not try to minimize the difficulties of his position, but in spite of open and secret opposition he put through a program of advanced yet prudent legislation and so conducted himself as governor that his resourceful and experienced opponents are hard set to find an issue in his administration. The honesty and open policy of his regime are shown in his campaign as revealed by this exposure of "invisible government" and his fearless challenge to Mr. McCall to come out in condemnation of the republican legislature and the forces which operated against real popular and democratic government.

COST OF LUXURY

Speaking in Boston last Sunday evening Rev. Madison C. Peters, D.D., delivered a strong criticism of some current tendencies, taking the stand that the people as a whole are neglecting their opportunities to live comfortably while at the same time making provision for the future. He admitted that the "cost of living" is higher than formerly but said that in many cases the truth would be better served by the phrase "high cost of luxury." As an illustration he mentioned the great neglect of American farm opportunities saying that if the state of Texas were farmed scientifically it "could feed the whole of the United States."

DESIRABLE MOVIES

statements of the noted preacher and it is a truth that many lose sight of who comment on present day living conditions as contrasted with those of an older generation. When people complain of the high cost of living today they do not mean exactly the high cost of necessities, for no matter how poor the individuals, they must have money for the movies, for the latest fashions and for home comforts that their fathers and mothers did not dream of. It is one thing to speak of the hard lot of the girls who work in the factories, for instance, but one who frequents some of the busy evening dance halls will find a great percentage of those same girls dressed in the latest fashion and enjoying the amusement that is a part of their daily existence. To be sure, the humblest worker is entitled to some pleasures as well as good clothing and sufficient food, but in how many instances do people spend money needlessly that they cannot really spare! All people in this age hunger for the good things of life and in thousands of cases all around us they pay in one form or another for the "high cost of luxury."

In his Boston address Dr. Peters spoke specifically of the apparent neglect of farm opportunities in this part of the country. A trolley ride in any direction from our congested cities will show hundreds of acres of unrelieved land that in any other progressive nation would be the scene of happy and prosperous homes. Here, the tendency is unfortunately in the other direction: those born in the country pine for the chance to live in the city with its numerous attractions. They fail to see that life in the country would be far more normal and in the long run more remunerative. Lured by the theatre lights, the trolley cars, the superficial conveniences, they abandon the healthful farm existence that is at the root of every sturdy national life. Even the foreigner who comes here from the farm lands of his own country disdains farm life in America and lives the unwholesome tenement and factory life of cities in preference to the open air of the fields and the clear skies.

Soon there must be a revolution of feeling for our great cities are suffering from congestion and a glut in the labor markets. Little by little the conviction is growing that men and women pay too dearly for the life of the city and there is a popular hunger for the small farm with its cattle, its orchard and its garden. From the highest government officials to the least worker who keeps in touch with what is going on, our people are becoming convinced of the need for the scientific farming that in the words of Dr. Peters would feed the entire country if carried out in the state of Texas.

There is a dangerous tendency in some quarters to picture the close of the war as a time of great trade extension for the United States and of crippled industry for the belligerent nations. This country will certainly be to the most favorable position of any, but it is foolish to assume that we will have a monopoly or that we shall not be subjected to brisk competition. Not only will the warring nations strive to heal their wounds by commercial expansion, but they are now actively preparing to stand at the first address to the league shows more shrewdness than has displayed in this country and has much of interest to the American manufacturer and trader.

Among other things Dr. Dernburg is reported to have said: "One advantage to Germany is her widespread and well-organized merchant marine, and her methodical banking system. For this reason we need not fear foreign competition for many generations to come." He admits the possibility of a loss of German prestige, but the tone of his forecast is optimistic. If the report of the activity be true, Germany will be an active trade rival of the United States in South American markets for the future. We need not fear fair competition, and it is noteworthy that we too have an excellent banking system and there is every indication that we shall have a merchant marine in the near future. While preparing for our own trade expansion it is not well that we should underestimate the efforts being made and to be made by other nations, both belligerent and neutral.

that in his opinion 22 out of 30 were clean, four suggestive, and five tending to instruction in crime. Furthermore it was discovered that the theatres which presented the cleanest pictures were the most crowded.

For a complete analysis of the local moving picture field, a more extensive investigation would be required, nevertheless, it is gratifying to find that the report is on the whole commendable. It may be that few people can agree as to what is objectionable in the theatrical performances, but a minister is not liable to err on the ground of too great tolerance of what is indecent or suggestive, consequently the testimony of the investigator may be taken as really representing conditions.

Thousands of persons of all ages see the moving pictures in local theatres during the week and are consciously or unconsciously influenced thereby. The screen dramas have a directive power over the juvenile mind in particular that is for good or evil, according to the character of the representation. Vigilance must be exercised by the authorities, therefore, in order that high standards shall be maintained and that the few theatres which still tolerate suggestive or sensational pictures may swing in line with the great majority.

JUDGE ENRIGHT'S DECISION

In announcing a finding of not guilty in the case of two girls accused of assaulting a third who had called them "scabs" and other disagreeable names because they did not join the U. S. Cartridge company strikers, Judge Enright took into consideration the provocation in the case. He also undoubtedly took into consideration the fact that while every strikers has the right to strike or to quit work at will, every other operative has an equal right to remain at work without insult or molestation of any kind. The decision as we view it, is a reminder that strikers have not the right to assault those who decide not to strike by hurling at them the name "scabs" or other offensive epithets. It is also a reminder that the party who provokes a quarrel and gets worsted, seldom gains anything by appealing to the courts.

Has Dumba left us a legacy of labor troubles at factories where munitions or other supplies are manufactured for the allies? The very suspicion that such may be the case will injure strikers who never heard of Dumba.

THEATRE REPORTS

that in his opinion 22 out of 30 were clean, four suggestive, and five tending to instruction in crime. Furthermore it was discovered that the theatres which presented the cleanest pictures were the most crowded.

For a complete analysis of the local moving picture field, a more extensive investigation would be required, nevertheless, it is gratifying to find that the report is on the whole commendable. It may be that few people can agree as to what is objectionable in the theatrical performances, but a minister is not liable to err on the ground of too great tolerance of what is indecent or suggestive, consequently the testimony of the investigator may be taken as really representing conditions.

SEEN AND HEARD

Sometimes it seems a great pity that October has only 31 days.

Again we have come to the glad season of mince pie and consequent indigestion.

Some day every public telephone booth may be ventilated with an electric fan.

The world is making progress all the time. What used to be called a swill cart is now a garbage wagon.

The man who learns something new every day ought to know at least 50 new things after he has done it for a year.

One answer to the question how the neighbors can afford to do all the things they do is that quite frequently they can't.

When the sport shirt came into fashion, it disclosed right away the fact that a great many young men had been wearing brass collar buttons.

After a man has been stung once by a swarm of bees, you can't get him enthusiastic by telling him that bee stings are a cure for rheumatism.

Does the cartoonist's wife always snatch the cartoon away when she sees him start in to make pictures of the children?

If your friend had a twinge of rheumatism yesterday, you are sure to offend him if you don't ask the first thing when you meet him how he is today.

The ice man has to be almost a mind reader to know for sure whether the ice card in the parlor window was put up in the morning or left after he delivered a 10-pound cake the day before.

Why try to stir up the boy's ambition by telling him that he has a chance of becoming president some day? Why not tell him that he has a chance of becoming the star pitcher of a world's championship team?

Chestnuts ought to be in the market before very long, in large quantities, as the sharp frost of a week ago must have opened the chestnut burrs, and now they are falling in quantities. Boys who are lucky enough to know where there are chestnut trees in the city outskirts are already bringing them in, but there have not as yet been many noticed in the market.

Unsigned Bank Notes
This would be an unnecessary precaution, but it may be well for you to begin the practice of noting well the appearance of bank notes that come into your possession, for unless you do, there is danger, sometime, of getting caught with worthless goods. This warning is pertinent just now because the bank notes are likely to be in circulation unsigned United States bank notes to the total value of $100,000 as a result of a train robbery in West Virginia, in which that amount of unsigned bank notes was stolen. Perhaps it will pay you to begin, a few weeks hence, to look at the United States bank notes passed on to you to see whether they have the signatures or not. Without them the money is valueless, no matter who gave it to you.

Named Him Down
"Do you really mean it, Mr. Spooner, when you say I am the best girl in the world?" asked a young lady of an ardent admirer.

"Indeed I do, Dora," responded the young man. "I say it again—you are the best girl in the world."

"And the loveliest, I think you said?"

"The loveliest without doubt."

"I think you said something about my accomplishments, too?"

"I did. I said they excelled those of any other girl."

"I believe you called me sweet?"

"A sweeter woman never breathed!"

"You used the word 'perfect,' too, didn't you?"

"I did. I look upon you as the pink of perfection, propriety, and modesty, the empress of my heart, the peerless one among the beautiful creatures of your sex, a maiden adorable, enchanting, and worthy of the hand of the best man on earth. Say the word that will make me the happiest man on earth, and I'm yours."

"Before I give you an answer, Mr. Spooner, I should like to ask you one question."

"A dozen, if you like."

"One will be enough. Don't you think that you have a great deal of assurance to expect a woman with all those excellent qualities to marry such an ordinary man as you?"

Mr. Spooner is still a bachelor.

Yesterday
It seems but yesterday that I was just a careless boy. With freckled face and care-free mind I got a 25-cent tin of Danderine. Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, brightness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing out all over your scalp. Danderine is a real destroyer of dandruff and cure for itching scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

It seems but yesterday I signed that note on three months' time. And I finished off the signature with confidence sublime. And now alas! that note is due. And I'm too poor to pay. How can these three long months gone?

It seems but yesterday.

It seems but yesterday she vowed. She'd be forever true. And smiled upon me when I came. As fickle maidens do. And now she's vowed another man. To honor and obey. Was our fond dream so long ago? It seems but yesterday.

It seems but yesterday that Spring broke in on Winter's reign. And bade goodbye to ice and snow. And frosted windows pane. Now I need thirty tons of coal—Eight dollars a ton they say—Is it so long since Spring was here? It seems but yesterday!

DARK AGES OF MEDICINE

Many cathartics are noxious doses, offensive to taste and smell.

Some people think that they are not taking medicine unless it has a bad taste. Otherwise nobody would think of taking castor oil or castor oil or salts to move the bowels. They belong to the past. Harsh cathartics, except in extreme emergencies, never were advisable.

It is now possible to take a laxative that will give nature a little gentle assistance and to increase the dose when more action is desired. Pinklets, the tiny pink laxative pills, make this possible and they never gripe.

Your druggist sells Pinklets. Price free sample and a useful book on the treatment of constipation will be sent free on request to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Boy Mute Reenacts Murder of Mother and Death of Father

ATHOL, Oct. 19.—Maddened by dependency, Harry G. Wright, a widely-known mechanic of this town, fatally wounded his wife yesterday in their home on Sanders street, and then ended his own life with a bullet through his heart.

A 11-year-old deaf and dumb son, who witnessed the double tragedy, too frightened to interfere, rushed from the house and by wild pantomime finally succeeded in attracting the attention of neighbors.

With Patrolman E. G. Hatch they hastened to the house to find Wright dead on the dining room floor, while a trail of blood leading to the home of his mother, Mrs. Flora Wright, next door, told the story of his wife. She had dragged herself into the kitchen of her mother-in-law's house, only to fall dead at Mrs. Wright's feet.

Not for many hours afterward, though, could the police learn just what had happened. It finally was made known to them by the deaf and dumb son. In awkward, nervous pantomime, and aided by words which the officials wrote and pointed to him—the child couldn't write himself—here enacted the tragedy.

His father, he let the police know, had been in ill health for some time. Yesterday morning he appeared unusually despondent and after lunch, when the two other children, a boy 8, and a girl 10, had returned to school, he suddenly seemed to go mad.

According to the trembling mute, the father ran wildly from the dining room only to come back a moment later with a rifle in his hand. He pointed it at his breast and was on the point of pulling the trigger when the child's mother threw herself upon him.

There was a long struggle—the boy acted it out—then the father overcame to the floor. He was in his grandmother's home and when once more Mrs. Wright and the officials had revived him he continued his weird pantomime. Suddenly, so the lad let it become known, there was a puff of smoke. His mother sank crumpled heap at his father's feet. Then there was another puff of smoke and his father toppled onto the floor.

The boy's pantomime ended there. He ran from the house after that.

Mrs. Wright verified the child's account. She was in her home, she said, when she heard a noise in her kitchen. Hastening into the room, she saw her daughter-in-law lying on the floor. She was unconscious and blood poured from a wound in her right side. Mrs. Wright called for assistance, but before it arrived her daughter-in-law died.

FIRE IN CHENEY'S BOX SHOP
A slight fire in Cheney's box shop on Tanner street, caused a telephone alarm at 5:15 o'clock last night. The blaze was discovered in a sawdust pile and the nearby buildings were threatened. Hand chemicals were used to extinguish the fire and then the fire fighters turned over the sawdust to ascertain that no sparks remained in the pile.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—John J. V. W. Cox, connected with a so-called magazine agency, was arrested here today by postoffice inspectors, charged with using the mails to defraud. It was alleged by the government that Wile caused advertisements to be printed in many newspapers offering to send each person sending him 10 cents an unlimited number of sample copies of magazines.

The postal officials complained that the agency received thousands of letters and that promises had been made to clients without the knowledge or approval of the publishers. Wilson was held by United States Commissioner Hayes in $1000 bail for a hearing on October 22.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL TALKED ON PLUMBING

Controversy Over Old Pipes in Memorial Building — Difference Between a Test and Inspection

The municipal council held quite a breezy meeting today. The pep did not show, however, until the matter of testing the old pipes at the Memorial building came up and then there was something doing, the mayor and Thomas P. Castello, the man who has the plumbing contract, exchanging courtesies. The most important item of business connected with the meeting had to do with the high school, the council instructing the city solicitor to notify the occupants of buildings in Anne and Kirk streets that they would have to vacate on or before Jan. 1, 1916. There was also a communication from the Genoa club, advising the council that the club would not accept the $17,150 offered by the city and that the club intended to invoke the remedies provided by law.

The city engineer submitted a plan having to do with the proposed seizure of all the land between Maiden lane and the First Congregational church in connection with the extension of Dummer street, giving the assessed valuation of the land and the estimated cost of razing the buildings, grading, etc., as $70,000.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:45 with all members present and the first business had to do with pole locations and wire attachments.

Peter H. Monahan objected to the location of poles in Walnut street. He said the sidewalks are narrow there; that about all of the property owners object to poles; and he thought it would be an easy matter to put the wires underground. The mayor read a letter of protest along the same lines as Mr. Monahan. The letter bore a number of signatures and the mayor said it seemed to him as if everybody on the street was opposed to the poles as petitioned for by the N. E. T. & Co. All of the remonstrants favored underground wires. The matter was referred to Commissioners Morse and Putnam.

The N. E. T. & Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. asked for joint locations in Riverside street and the matter was properly referred.

Several petitions for sidewalks and street improvements were properly referred.

Petitions of Ernest G. Livingstone and Frank Jewett for garage and gasoline licenses were referred to Commissioner Carmichael and Fire Chief Saunders.

Several orders for pole locations were adopted, hearings having been held on the petitions at a previous meeting.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for pole locations in Broadway between Wilder and Rolfe streets was referred to the proper committee.

An order allowing the Postal Cable company to lay conduits in Lawrence street was adopted.

JURORS DRAWN

The following traverse jurors, 20 in all, were drawn by Commissioner Morse, to serve at the criminal session of the superior court in this city, Wednesday, Nov. 3:

Dawson, 533 Middlesex street, manager; Hector Monette, 138 Cumberland road, teamster; Charles J. Davignon, 763 Merrimack street, stone-cutter; Edward Goodson, 151 Summer street, clerk; John J. Jackson, 120 Gates street, clerk; George T. Holden, 25 Mt. Grove street, machinist; Edward T. Cushing, 20 Chelmsford st., hotel; William A. Taylor, 23 Twelfth street, manager; George L. Ashworth, 110 Westford street, clerk.

High Fare Issue

The mayor read a letter from the public service commission addressed to City Clerk Flynn, advising the latter of the commission's request of action taken by the municipal council relative to an investigation in Lowell and vicinity as to the necessity of the street railway company adopting a six-cent fare. The communication was received and placed on file.

MOTION TO DISMISS INDICTMENTS DENIED

Federal Judge Hunt Turns Down Motion of Eleven New Haven Defendants—Atty. Batts Says Directors Ignored Mellen's Advice to Sell Steamship Lines

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—How the directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co., after having been advised by its president, Charles S. Mellen, that President Roosevelt refused to commit himself on the question as to whether they were violating the law in acquiring steamship lines, declined to accept Mellen's advice to sell their lines to Charles W. Morse, was told today by J. L. Batts, the federal attorney, in continuing his address to the jury at the trial of the 11 directors or former directors charged with violating the Sherman law.

Mr. Batts said that Morse had offered the New Haven $20,000,000 for steamship lines that had cost the New Haven only $9,000,000. Mellen, he said, was disposed to accept the offer, as he feared federal prosecution of the New Haven for the methods by which it had acquired the steamship lines. He went to President Roosevelt about it, told him that he thought it would be in the interest of the country if the lines were sold to Morse, but nevertheless thought it advisable to do so in case the federal authorities thought the New Haven had been violating the law. The president, however, refused to say whether he thought the law had been violated, though he intimated, Mr. Batts said, that no action was contemplated against the New Haven.

Mellen, according to the federal attorney, advised that the properties be sold, but the directors refused to accept his advice and continued in their policy of acquiring additional steamship lines.

Motion Denied

Federal Judge Hunt today denied a motion made last week by the eleven defendants to dismiss the indictments on the ground that they did not show sufficient evidence of conspiracy. Judge Hunt informed the attorneys for the defendants that they had the right to renew the motion at any future time.

Afternoon Session

At the afternoon session, Mr. Batts told of the creation of the Boston Railroad Holding Co. by the Massachusetts legislature through which the New Haven was authorized to acquire control of the Boston & Maine.

He said the government would show the political activities of the New Haven in connection with the creation of this company and how after it was accomplished, a former governor of Massachusetts demanded of the New Haven the right to name the president of the Boston & Maine. This the New Haven refused to grant, choosing Chas. S. Mellen, said the attorney.

Mr. Batts further recited how Edward B. Robbins, the general counsel of the New Haven, went to Washington at a time when the federal government had been contemplating prosecution of the road and satisfied the department of justice that the legislative acts contemplated in Massachusetts would "prevent the evil consequences that otherwise would have followed from the New Haven's unlawful deeds."

The federal attorney next went into the alleged efforts of the New Haven to shut out the extension of the lines of the Grand Trunk railway of Canada from New England. The Grand Trunk proposed to construct lines from Palmer, Mass., and Worcester, Mass., to Providence, with steamship connections to New York.

"The jury will be called upon to determine," said the attorney, "whether the abandonment of the construction of these lines and of the building of the proposed steamboats was the result of an agreement undertaken by the president of the New Haven with the concurrence of the directors, with the Grand Trunk authorities."

"As Mr. Morgan said, in a much earlier stage of the negotiations, there never could be peace between the New Haven and the Grand Trunk until the Grand Trunk agreed to do what it had once contracted to do."

THREE TRAINS HELD UP AND ROBBED BY BANDITS

20 Mexicans Inspired by Race Hatred, Wrecked Train, Robbed Passengers, Killed Three and Injured Five—Six Men Looted Two Freights and Attempted to Rob Express in New York — All Escaped

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 19.—Inspired by race hatred as well as a desire for loot, 20 Mexicans, who claimed to be followers of Luis de la Rosa, leader of the so-called Texas revolution, held up and robbed a train near Olmito, several miles north of here, late last night. As a result three men are dead, another is probably fatally wounded and four others are seriously hurt. The bandits are believed to have escaped into Mexico.

The scene of the robbery was three miles from the Rio Grande. The Mexicans as they fired at the train crew and passengers shouted: "Viva Pizarro! Viva Carranza!"

Pizarro was a co-leader with de la Rosa.

Train Wrecked Before Attack

CARSON QUILTS CABINET

Said to Disagree With Other Ministers on Conduct of War—Redmond Says Crisis is at Hand

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Sir Edward Carson, attorney general, has resigned from the British cabinet. The resignation, the first open manifestation of the divergence of views known to exist among the ministers, is the result, according to an authoritative statement, not of the controversy over conscription, but of the condition of affairs in the near east. Sir Edward himself, so far, has made no personal explanation of his reasons for resigning; but it is understood that he disapproves of the policy which is being followed in the Balkans and of the method of conducting the whole national policy to a small "inner cabinet." It is expected that there will be exciting debates in the house of commons this week, as severe attacks on the government are planned by members of the house in connection with the general military policy, especially in the near east.

Sir Edward Carson, prior to the outbreak of the war, was the leader of the movement against home rule for Ireland, which for a time threatened civil war in Ulster. At that time he was the conservative member of parliament for Dublin university and gained great notoriety for his speeches attacking the government and the sympathizers of home rule and threatening, in case the king signed the home rule bill, to aid in setting up a provisional government in Ulster.

He was the first to sign the covenant of resistance to home rule and led the Ulsterites in the formation of the Ulster volunteers.

He went to Germany and was dined by the kaiser while ostensibly planning a rebellion in Ireland. Carson is alleged also that the kaiser had imported for his volunteers were of German make.

When the present coalition government was formed last May Sir Edward was given the portfolio of attorney general. Some of the English newspapers expressed the opinion that this appointment was a mistake, in view of his previous antagonism to the government.

The most notable cases with which Sir Edward has had to deal since his embarking of the attorney general's duties were the board of trade's inquiry into the sinking of the Lusitania and the proceedings before the prize court for the condemnation of American meat cargoes which had been seized by the British government on the ground that they were destined for Germany. Recently there has been unofficial talk in London of Sir Edward being at odds with other members of the ministry over conscription, the Balkan situation and the Dardanelles expedition. The attorney general did not attend the cabinet meetings recently.

PILOT, SAYS REDMOND

Irish Leader Says Coalition Government is Threatened by Men Ready to Sacrifice National Unity

DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—Presiding at the nationalist convention yesterday John E. Redmond said that a grave political crisis might arise any day. The position of the coalition government, he declared, is precarious. It is threatened by internal and external dangers. A conspiracy existed among men ready to sacrifice national unity in the face of the enemy to further their own predilections and theories.

It is common talk, said the Irish leader, that a general election is possible, but Ireland could boast that she is not responsible for these dangers.

THE GREATEST CATARRH DOCTOR IN THE WORLD

Medicated Air Kills the Germs of This Dangerous Disease

Catarrh is a disease caused by a Catarrh Germ. The sore, inflamed membranes, the blowing, hawking, spitting, choking and other disagreeable symptoms are merely conditions brought about by these germs which have found lodgment in your nose and throat.

There is a preparation called Hyomei combined with powerful germ destroying ingredients which does successfully treat and cure Catarrh by being sprayed by destroying the germ causing it. You neither sniff it up your nose nor do you swallow it. You just breathe this medicated air through a little hard rubber inhaler which druggists furnish with it.

The penetrating germ killing air of Hyomei enters every nook and crevice of your nose, throat and lungs, and destroys the inflamed passages, stops the nasty mucous discharge, promptly relieves the stuffed up feeling and makes breathing easy. And it does more, its powerful penetrating air is positive, certain death to the catarrh germs themselves. It seeks them out wherever they are hiding and breeding in your system and destroys them utterly. When you have destroyed the cause of Catarrh the disease leaves you. A complete cure! Includes both a bottle of the Hyomei liquid and the rubber inhaler through which you breathe it. Be sure to ask the druggist from whom you buy for both as the inhaler is quite necessary. It is packed right in the box with the liquid. All druggists in this vicinity sell the Hyomei outfit this way and give a positive guarantee of successful use or your money back. Hyomei is without doubt the greatest Catarrh doctor in the world.

ANURIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that there is no other eliminator of uric acid that can be compared to it. For those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—such as backache, swelling, uric acid, frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

FRESHMEN AT TEXTILE

THEY HAZED SEVERAL SOPHOMORES DOWN TOWN LAST NIGHT—WATCHED BY BIG CROWD

The freshmen of the Lowell Textile school got busy last evening and put it all over the sophomores of the school and indeed it was a surprise, for as a rule the sophomores are always in the lead. Several freshmen gathered at Merrimack square and the first sophomore to fall into their clutches was Merrill Morris, who was put through all the antics that his captors could think of, much to the delight of the crowd of 200 or more, who watched the proceedings with evident relish.

Later on the freshmen went up Merrimack street, and when near city hall they captured Berry, the husky football halfback, and forced him to auction off city hall, but Berry made his escape before the deed was passed over to the highest bidder. The fun was kept up till a late hour at night at the expense of the sophomores, but it is expected that the latter will soon have their day.

"SPEECHLESS" BANQUET

SAN FRANCISCO TELEGRAPHERS HONOR THOMAS A. EDISON—ADDRESS BY WIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—A "speechless" banquet with the customary address, arranged by San Francisco telegraphers in honor of Thos. A. Edison, telegraph operator, is to be held at the San Francisco club tonight. At each speaker's place a telegraph key with miniature poles to carry the wires around the table has been arranged. The addresses of welcome are to be ticked off to Mr. Edison, who is expected to respond in dots and dashes.

The menu was written in "Morse." A brilliant electrical illumination of the city tonight was a part of the program adopted by city officials in honor of Mr. Edison's visit. A feature of the illumination will be flashing into the sky of electrical messages of welcome.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The year 1890 will ever be recalled by the old time democrats as one of the greatest years in history for in this grand old commonwealth they achieved something that previously had been thought beyond the range of possibility, the election of a democratic governor. But they did something else also thought to be impossible, they elected Hon. Moses T. Stevens of Andover, a democrat, to congress over Hon. Frederic T. Greenhalge in the old eighth congressional district and they've never elected a democratic congressman since. Russell carried Lowell by 224 and Stevens by 163. Gov. Russell was known as the "boy governor" and became a popular figure from Maine to California. In the new year, also, Hon. John E. Drury, former aide-de-camp and "patron saint" of the famous Perry Lane Boat, Life-Saving and Publicity club came in with the general democratic victory and beat out Hon. Charles H. Manson for the senate.

The campaign in Lowell quarter of a century ago was far different from the state campaign of today. Six state rallies were held in Huntington hall while the different ward democratic clubs held rallies and there was far more enthusiasm on both sides than is manifest today. This is due in a measure to the fact that the commission form of government has put the local partisan organizations out of commission. The present governor, Hon. David I. Walsh, however, more closely resembles the lamented Russell, in youth, energy and general popularity than perhaps any governor who has been elected in quarter of a century.

Just 25 years ago tomorrow night, a great outpouring of democrats and citizens generally, packed old Huntington hall to hear Hon. William E. Russell, at the big state rally. The old Sun says that every nook and corner of the hall was filled, and that meant a tremendous crowd. For Huntington hall was strong on capacity. Col. James H. Carmichael called to order, as he was chairman of the democratic city committee of that day. And that reminds me, the colonel will soon observe the 25th anniversary of his election for it was the same day, Russell who made him a member of his official military family with the rank of colonel, not quite, but almost 25 years ago. He had to be elected governor first before he could bestow the honor on the popular chairman of the Lowell democratic city committee, and this rally took place on the eve of his election. Col. A. A. Haggatt, Lowell's democratic postmaster was the vice-president and there were about 40 of the faithful on the platform as guards of honor for Hon. William E. Russell and Hon. John W. Corcoran, who was Russell's running-mate at the head of the ticket. In those days the postmaster-general wasn't so fussy about postmasters mingling in politics, and Col. Haggatt mingled both while in and while out of office. Col. Haggatt presided and after addressing the audience that personally he had nothing against Congressman Greenhalge, he proceeded to lay him. He stated also that Congressman Greenhalge was with the democrats when Mr. Greeley ran for president, but afterward fell from grace. Apparently the fall didn't hurt the popular Lowell man to any extent for afterward he was not only a congressman but a governor. Hon. Wm. H. Channing in a speech nailed Henry Cabot Lodge and his policies and for a quarter of a century Henry Cabot Lodge and his policies have received an annual nailing, but he still holds the fort. Mr. Russell delivered an excellent speech and he kept the audience at a high pitch of enthusiasm. He was a most pleasing and forceful speaker and made a big hit with his audiences wherever he appeared.

At the same time the democrats of ward 6, which in those days meant Riverside, held a rally, and Daniel J. Donahue, the first speaker, got after the White Press, the money men whom he accused of paying out republican ballots to their employees with the understanding that the employees wouldn't vote any other ticket with safety. The coming of the Australian ballot put that practice out of commission. Mr. Donahue also denounced and boomed Mr. Charles H. Gibson for representative for it in 1890 days. Charles H. Gibson had been a democrat and was a great a democrat as he is today a republican. And he's ardent, yet for his republicanism of 1890 but not for his and Abner Goldman are still at work on the local progressive party whence all but the best of the political affairs of quarter of a century ago, the Central Labor union is a negative relative to the attitude of the candidates for state office on legislative matters affecting the interest of the working classes and we are left in this manner the Central body sent notice

1200 GREET GOV. WALSH

Cites B. & M. Case—Fought 'Riders' by Veto—Calls Presence in Bills Due to 'Invisible Government'

BROCKTON, Oct. 19.—Gov. David L. Walsh was tendered a flattering ovation when he appeared in Clark hall last night by the 1200 voters assembled.

The governor spoke for an hour and at the conclusion he was approached by John Clapp of 920 North Main street, a great-grand-nephew of General Warren of Bunker Hill fame, and assured that when he cast his gubernatorial vote it would be for David L. Walsh.

Chairman Edward P. Newson of the democratic city committee presided. In the audience were a number of prominent republicans.

The governor began his night's campaigning at town hall, Milton, where James S. Gallagher, chairman of the democratic town committee, presided. Gov. Walsh was met by Congressman Richard Olney 2d, who followed him throughout the district.

The second meeting was in Alpha hall, Quincy, where Edward J. Parker presided at the meeting, which was attended by 600. Prof. Edwin A. Grosvenor, democratic candidate for secretary of state, was speaking when the governor arrived.

The final meeting of the night was held in Stetson hall, Randolph, an audience of 400, including many women, awaiting the arrival of the governor. Chauncey Frank M. Condon of the town committee was chairman.

Hon. Edward P. Barry, candidate for lieutenant governor; Prof. Grosvenor, Jacob C. Morse, candidate for state auditor, and Joseph J. Donahue, candidate for attorney-general, followed in the wake of Governor Walsh at the various meetings.

Gov. Walsh's Speech
Gov. Walsh said, in part:

"I have devoted several speeches in this campaign to the discussion of certain important reforms recommended by me which were rejected by the legislature of this year.

"I intend during this campaign to call public attention to the rejection of further progressive and humane measures recommended by me which the people should know about before deciding upon their choice of candidates.

"Tonight I intend to submit to the voters for their consideration one of the many accomplishments of my administration of this year. In my opinion, one of the most important services which I have rendered was the part taken by my administration in securing a just provision for the reorganization of the Boston & Maine railroad.

"The first step necessary to reorganize this railroad has been at last accomplished after my urging for two years that the leased lines and the different properties composing the Boston & Maine system be merged into one corporation.

Fought 'Riders' With Veto

"In my inaugural messages, both in 1914 and 1915, I called for a reorganization of this railroad in the public interest, and during the past year, with the cooperation of the public service commission and the trustees appointed by the federal courts, a plan which I approved was submitted for consideration by the legislature.

"During the pendency of this proposed legislation certain interests sought to inject and succeeded in injecting into these reorganization railroad bills so-called 'riders' which would override some of the wise provisions of our statute dealing with rate making and forbidding stock watering and which would also severely limit public regulations.

"These so-called 'riders' were inserted in these bills without the knowledge or sanction of the governor, the public service commission, or, in some instances, even of the committee on railroads of the legislature, which held all parties in interest. At no public hearing were they ever submitted for discussion or criticism; but during the closing hours of the debate in the legislature, for the first time they were brought to light and incorporated in these bills.

"Where did these so-called 'riders' come from? No body of public-spirited citizens or officials of the commonwealth outside of the legislature suggested them. Their presence in these bills can only be explained by that influence which is now recognized as the 'invisible government'.

"In a measure which stated my position unmistakably, I vetoed the two railroad bills containing these objectionable clauses and pointed out the injurious results that were certain to follow the adoption of such legislation and I insisted upon the legislature approving the plan of reorganization proposed by the public authorities without these objectionable features.

"Invisible Government" at Work
"This act of my vetoing these bills called for public condemnation from the Boston chamber of commerce and was almost universally approved by the press of the state.

"As is now generally known, however, the legislature, after some hesitation, bowed to the public demand in the closing hours of the session and adopted the provision recommended by the governor and the public service commission free from indefensible 'riders'.

"What is the explanation for the incorporation of these clauses so antagonistic to the public interest in this important legislation?
"What explanation can anyone offer to the people of Massachusetts for such action upon the part of the legislature in view of the fact that every public official interested in these bills appearing before the legislative committee, and indeed, even the attorneys for the railroad companies, apparently approved of the bills as satisfactory before the objectionable amendments

OTTO COKE

I will not advertise Otto Coke very extensively this winter. I cannot afford to, as the value is all in the Coke and no big margin left for the excessive advertising. Still I cannot resist the temptation of saying something good about it now and then. Let me repeat that OTTO COKE makes a perfect fire for cooking or heating, and only costs ten cents per ton more than the other kind.

KNOWLES MURDER CASE NO LICENSE CAMPAIGN

TALK OF AN ARREST—SUSPECTS MOVEMENTS ARE DESCRIBED BY COLBY

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 19.—Albert Colby, who says he carried the revolver which killed Judge Willis S. Knowles to Johnston on Labor day, was examined yesterday as to his mental soundness by Justice Samuel Griffin and a report will be submitted to Sheriff Wheat.

Dr. Griffin stated last night, however, that there is nothing the matter with Colby except a slight nervous attack, that he is rational in discussing any and all subjects, including the part he played in the Knowles tragedy. In the interests of a man to whom Colby says he delivered the murder gun, Colby was also taken to Butler Hospital for the Insane and examined as to his sanity.

The authorities had Thomas Bernard, a ball player, at the court house last night and he denied that he ever received or transmitted a telephone message from Colby Sunday, Sept. 5, to "be all ready for that job in the morning." Bernard said he knew nothing of the murder of Judge Knowles.

Bernard was induced to try on a coat which said belonged to the former. It had been found hanging on a tree near the hangout, at the scene of the Knowles murder. Bernard denied that he ever saw the coat before, and claimed it did not fit him.

Colby told the authorities last night that he had recalled some additional incidents which occurred soon after the tragedy. The information related to the movements of the man to whom he gave the revolver, who is under suspicion. The latest disclosure by Colby caused Sheriff Wheat to seek a conference late last night with Attorney General Roper.

Last night an arrest was being talked of with some seriousness, and it is stated that the investigators do not now hope to secure much additional information without taking such a step.

Colby is 33 years old and he belongs in Middleburg, Mass., where his sister resides.

CALLS MONROE DOCTRINE BLUFF

Prof. Hart of Harvard Tells Worcester Audience This Plan Will No Longer Keep Europe Out

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—Addressing the Worcester Congregational club last night Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard university, characterized the Monroe Doctrine as a policy which has kept European nations out of the western hemisphere in the past practically by bluffing, a plan which, he said, will no longer succeed.

Today, Prof. Hart declared, if the United States intends to maintain the Monroe Doctrine, she must be willing to defend it. "Preparation," he said in brief, "is the only adequate proof that the United States wants the Monroe Doctrine."

Continuing, Prof. Hart said: "The United States must do one or two things if she would continue to uphold the Monroe Doctrine. Either she must stand for it as a question of pacifism, a mutual understanding among the great powers sufficient to preserve the world's peace; or else, if peace cannot be reached, then the United States must do what is necessary at least to protect her own coast from foreign invasion."

"Today," he remarked, "the shadow of Mexico can no longer frighten European nations away from the western hemisphere, while it would not be a very great undertaking to get troops across the water."

Prof. Hart noted how the United States has developed a system of protectors of at least five Central American republics and every island of the West Indies except Jamaica. When it came to the actual point at which European nations might land in this hemisphere, Prof. Hart pointed out, the United States herself did the landing and has undertaken to see that no Latin-American republic shall give offense to Europe. This policy, he observed, naturally argues that in the course of time, a protectorate for Mexico will also come about, and this entire plan, he added, is likely to be anything but satisfactory to the South American republics.

INTERESTING EXHIBIT AT 50 CENTRAL STREET—SHOWS EVILS OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC

A volunteer committee of 150 men and women working under the auspices of the Flying Squadron is conducting a unique campaign against the liquor traffic in Lowell this week. Walter A. Chase is the chairman of the committee and there is a very interesting exhibit at 50 Central street. The exhibit opened yesterday afternoon and will remain open daily from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. until Sunday night. Cards have been provided and signatures of individuals will be sought endorsing the national campaign for no license and national prohibition. The poster campaign is complete. The scientific aspect of the liquor problem is told in terse sentences by large type. The various ways in which the evils of the liquor business are illustrated are really astounding.

The show windows display $1 worth of groceries and the legend attached says: "This food displayed here represents what may be bought in Lowell for $1. The expenditure of the average family in the United States for drink." The whole exhibit is along this line, giving some concrete illustration of the cost of the liquor drinking habit to the city, the state and the family as well as the individual.

In the other show window is a reproduction of the famous Parisian painting which made a hit at the Salon, entitled "Pay Day." The other displays give details of the effect of drink and its relation to the prisons, crime, mortality and heredity. The center of the room is devoted to a large table on which are represented in unusual manner the effects of drink. A and hours the figures which tell how much liquor is worth to Massachusetts. It is announced that the product value of the liquor traffic in this state is $1,400,000 a year while the amount paid for labor in the liquor industry is $1,221,749 a year. To point a moral, it is declared on this same card that the product value of the cotton manufactures in Lowell is $26,755,270 a year and the amount paid in wages $5,306,788. This is calculated to emphasize the smaller portion of the wages in the liquor traffic as compared to an industry like the cotton mills.

WANTS INDICTMENT QUASHED

Issued Ten Years Ago in Boston Against Mrs. Dahlin of Denver for Alleged Kidnaping

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Belle Kendrick Dahlin, 10 years ago the central figure in a court fight that attracted national interest when Gov. McDonald refused extradition papers for her return to Boston, will ask the authorities there to quash the indictment pending against her for kidnaping that she may visit her former home.

Ten years ago Mrs. Dahlin, then Mrs. Kendrick, was the sister-in-law of John H. Sully of Boston. After the death of her sister, Mrs. Dahlin claimed that her two pieces were not receiving proper attention in the home where Sully placed them. She took the older girl to Canada and the younger to Norfolk, Va., and came to Denver.

Legal proceedings were instituted against her and she was indicted on the charge of kidnaping. The governor of Massachusetts issued extradition papers for her return to Boston, but the governor of Colorado refused to honor them when he learned the circumstances.

Mrs. Dahlin wishes to visit her old home and attend to property interests and will petition for the quashing of the indictment to prevent molestation.

A NEW SUBMARINE BASE

Seven Undersea Boats Arrive at New London With Tenders and Flagship

NEW LONDON, Oct. 19.—Seven submarines, G-1, G-2, G-4, E-1, D-1, D-2 and D-3, accompanied by the monitors Tananah and Ozark as tenders and by the destroyer Columbia as flagship, Rear Admiral Albert W. Grant, arrived in New London harbor yesterday from Newport, R. I., to open the new submarine base at the navy yard, more than two miles up the Thames river.

The Columbia, anchored off New London light, had the submarine and tenders proceeded immediately up the river, and the undersea craft did up at the docks at the navy yard.

QUARANTINE IS LIFTED

LID OFF MILCH COWS AT BRIGHTON STOCKYARDS MORE THAN FIFTY DAYS

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The quarantine on the Brighton stockyards has been lifted only with respect to the milch cows which were there when the lid was clapped on 15 days ago, and still applies to the barn as far as allowing cows to enter for sale. About one-half of the cows which were caught when the quarantine was declared have been sold since the state department of animal industry gave permission to hold sales on Friday afternoon.

No public auctions are permitted. Cattle from all over New England for immediate slaughter are being received, just as they have been all the time. They go to a different part of the yard and have in no way been affected by the quarantine, because the federal and state inspectors look them over both before and after they are killed and condemn any that are diseased. The danger to human beings, which is small in any case, is claimed, lies in the chance for infection from the live animals.

These conditions will continue at Brighton until after the 16 federal and state inspectors who have made one round of the 120 farms in the vicinity of Boston where the disease was found on one farm, have completed their second inspection trip over the same ground. The second trip is necessary to make doubly sure that no cases arise from infection which was incubating but had not been evident when the first trip was made. If, after the second tour, it is found that there is no case of the disease outside the place in question, when New England cows will be taken into the barn at Brighton again and public auctions will once more be permitted.

REFUSES MOTTO OF HATRED

English Church Official Bars Memorial Inscription, "Murdered On Lusitania By Germans"

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The wall of a church is not an appropriate place to perpetuate hatred, said the bishop of Exeter, who has refused to allow a memorial inscription to be placed in the church of St. Philip, which commemorates the 100th anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania. "Who was murdered on the Lusitania by the Germans?"

The word "murdered," Sir Philip said, would give to the church the appearance of a memorial to the victims of the Lusitania. "Who lost his life when the Lusitania was torpedoed by the Germans?" This was agreed to.

Supreme Court Reverses Award of $641.60 to Worcester Woman in Suit Over a Piano

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—An award of $641.60 that Mrs. Catherine E. O'Brien, a church organist in Worcester, secured in the superior court in a suit to recover for a piano she claimed was a wedding gift from her husband, the late Dr. O'Brien of Clinton, is overturned by a decision handed down yesterday from supreme court.

Mrs. O'Brien brought the suit against Mrs. Agnes A. McSherry of Holyoke, a daughter of Dr. O'Brien by a former marriage. Mrs. McSherry claimed the instrument was conveyed to her by her father, Judge Wahl, in superior court, forwarded Mrs. O'Brien $641.60, but supreme court decides that the statute of limitations bars the plaintiff from recovery.

MRS. IVER JOHNSON LEFT ONE SON ONLY $1000—FOUR CHILDREN SHARE IN $3,000,000 ESTATE

WORCESTER, Oct. 19.—The will of Mrs. Mary E. Johnson, widow of Iver Johnson, head of the Iver Johnson Arms and Cycle works in Fitchburg, disposing of an estate of $3,000,000, most of which came to her as an award from the supreme court in a contest in which her son, Frederick I. Johnson, claimed a one-fourth share, was filed yesterday in the probate court. This son receives only $1000 under the terms of the will. The death of Mrs. Johnson means the distribution of the $3,000,000 estate of her husband.

Mrs. Johnson's testament makes a specific bequest to Mrs. Mary I. Johnson Otto, a daughter, in addition to real estate that she received from her mother prior to her death. She is left all the personal effects of the testatrix, $5000 outright in cash, immediately, and is named as trustee of two life trusts, funds of $5000 each for the benefit of Miss Louise Dawson and Miss Jennie Adams, both of Worcester, these funds to go to daughter at the termination of the life trusts.

To the son, Frederick I. Johnson, is bequeathed $1000 and to two other sons, John Leach Johnson and Walter O. Johnson, $12,000 each. Mrs. Jean Harrington of Worcester and Mrs. Jane Pratt of Shrewsbury, sisters of the testatrix, are given $5000 each.

Requests of $5000 each are made to Dr. William H. Bennett of Fitchburg, the family physician, and to John Harmon of Fitchburg, executor.

The residue of the property is to be divided equally among the daughter, Mrs. Otto, and the two sons, John and Frederick.

Lovey Johnson and Walter O. Johnson, the last two being named executors, Attorney Charles F. Choate, Jr. filed the will.

The estate of Iver Johnson, estimated at $3,000,000 at his death 20 years ago, was left by him to his wife to care for herself and their four children during her life. The business and property of the Iver Johnson Arms and Cycle company increased after the death of Iver Johnson. The son, Frederick I. Johnson, was for some time general manager of the business.

Equality proceedings were brought in probate court to determine whether the Iver Johnson will created a trust fund for the benefit of the widow and family, with Mrs. Johnson as trustee, or whether the money was left to her and she was to care for the children from the income. A second issue was as to whom belonged the surplus income from the estate, beyond the amount necessary to support the family. Frederick I. Johnson, claimed a one-fourth interest in the surplus, asserting that his father's estate was a trust fund.

At the hearing in probate court a few years ago estimates were submitted to show that the principal of the Iver Johnson estate had about doubled and that Mrs. Johnson had surplus profits of nearly $3,000,000. The case was taken to supreme court, and it was decided that a trust fund was created by the Iver Johnson will, but the surplus profits were awarded to Mrs. Johnson subsequent to the litigation. The son, Frederick I. Johnson, was deposed from the post of general manager of the plant in Fitchburg, over which his mother exercised control.

The death of Mrs. Johnson makes the Iver Johnson estate available for equal division among the four children under the provisions of his will of 20 years ago.

BLOW TO YALE

Le Gore, Football Star, and Four Others Are Barred From Games

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 19.—Yale athletes were dealt a body blow last night when Harry LeGore, its greatest football man; Billy Easton, substitute quarterback; Spencer Pummely, a backfield candidate; Arthur Milburn, captain of the baseball team, and Bob Rietz, star outfielder, were declared ineligible for further intercollegiate competition.

Their expulsion from college sports was announced at the office of the Yale Athletic Association late last night, and the reason given was that each had obtained board and lodging for playing summer baseball with the Quogue Field club team of Long Island.

Branch Not Intended

Accompanying the association's statement was a letter signed by five athletes, in which they state their playing of the Yale baseball team was made unintentionally, and that upon being advised of the violation they immediately paid to the Quogue Field club sums of money to cover their living and lodging expenses during their connection with the club's baseball team.

The theme of this letter, this statement came voluntarily and without solicitation from the Yale officials, but there is a growing opinion about New Haven, supported by the early withholding of LeGore from the "Varsity" football lineup, that complaint against either Princeton or Harvard preceded investigations which led to this statement and its regrettable outcome.

Not since the establishment of strict amateur rulings among eastern colleges has there occurred such a sensational and wholesale uncovering of un-amateur doing among eastern colleges as has such a blow been dealt its athletic teams.

Students Surprised

Never has the Yale campus been the scene of such a demonstration as occurred when the announcement was made. The demonstration was far from a noisy one, for the announcement came to the undergraduate body as a complete surprise, and the show of feeling was that of looks and expression of helplessness or indignation.

Harry LeGore, one of the greatest football men ever to represent the Blue, and a baseball player, whose pronounced ability has led many big league scouts to the Yale baseball diamond in attempts to secure his signature to a major league contract, is Yale's most telling loss, as the result of the expose, while the loss of Easton and Pummely comes at a critical stage in Yale's football season, and when much was dependent upon their presence on the Yale team. Milburn and Rietz, however, are valuable players, and their exclusion from the team so far away, with the effect of their expulsion from athletics is not so great.

LeGore, who last Saturday, for the first time this season, started as a regular on the Yale team, was undoubtedly the best man in the New Haven lineup. Last year his work was the sensation of the college football world. Playing at the fullback position, he demonstrated a football versatility that brought comment from the Yale coaches, and he was the best man on an unusually strong squad, and he combined with this a punting and drop-kicking ability that was second to none of the college players of the present day, and, in addition, he was the man upon whom the success of Yale's football campaign most depended. Last Saturday, when showing as a regular for the first time this year, he gave every evidence that he not only retained his last season's ability but was to prove a more remarkable man in the various branches of the sport.

Put on Second Team

During the first few weeks of the season his name appeared only in the lineup of the second team. As a member of the eleven his work clearly outshone that of any man in Yale's backfield squad. Yet he was not placed on the "Varsity." Two weeks ago, when Yale was being beaten by the strong Virginia team, Yale stands rang with the shout, "Put in LeGore." "We want LeGore," Virginia's victory brought much condemnation upon the shoulders of Frank Hinkle. The demand for LeGore being given a place in the "Varsity" lineup came from graduates all over the country, and as if in answer to the demand, LeGore was sent into the Virginia game as a substitute, and such he scored the touchdown and goal from touchdown that won the contest.

This spectacular work was continued when as a regular he took part in the Springfield Y.M.C.A. college game of a week and a half ago. Yale graduates and undergraduates were elated. The football situation, which had caused them much concern, seemed to have been cleared by the placing of LeGore, and the bright prospects of the early season, which gave Yale the choice as 1915 football champions, seemed about to be realized.

The Yale Athletic Association's announcement, coming at such a time has overcast the entire university, prospects of a victorious football season have been blasted, and all Yale is blue—bluer than the blue of its pennant.

ASK YALE TO RECONSIDER

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 19.—As the result of an informal meeting of Harvard football leaders and authorities it was expected in Cambridge today that efforts would be made to persuade Yale to reconsider its action in dropping five prominent athletes because of their summer baseball activities. When it was learned that LeGore and Easton, two football players, had been included in the list of Yale ineligibles, Capt. D. W. Mahan of the Harvard "Varsity" football team called a meeting at which the matter was discussed. All of those present declined to be quoted today, but it is known that Capt. Mahan conferred with Chief Coach Haughton, former Capt. Robert Storer, Richard Wigglesworth and two members of the student advisory board and that the general sentiment seemed to be that the absence of LeGore would deprive the Harvard-Yale contest on Nov. 20 of one of its best features.

The view is said to have been expressed that as the violation of the intercollegiate agreement had been a technical one, and as the players had made proper amends when their attention was called to a violation of the rule, no definite action, however, was taken at the meeting except to extend to Yale in an unofficial way the attitude of Harvard.

Football players pointed out that when Orville Frank, a Harvard baseball player, was found to have technically violated an athletic rule, Yale promptly came forward and asked Harvard to permit the big first baseman to continue in the game.

ALL STARS BEGIN TOUR

HOBILTZELL IN CHARGE OF ALL-AMERICANS—BANCROFT HEADS NATIONALS

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Baseball stars of the American and National leagues were ready to get away tonight on their tour of the northwest and west. The first game was scheduled for Oshkosh, Wis., tomorrow. The tour will close Nov. 23.

Dick Hoblitzell of the Boston Americans will be in command of the All-Americans and Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, will be in charge of the Nationals. Grover Cleveland Alexander, of Philadelphia, Johnny Evers of Boston, Roth of Cleveland, Strunk and Schang of Philadelphia Americans and Walter of St. Louis were among the players who reported early today.

After playing in the principal cities of the northwest, the teams will go to San Francisco for a series of games at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Phinney Boyle meets Harry Carlson of Brockton at the Unity club, Lawrence, next Thursday evening in the main bout of 12 rounds. Carlson is the ex-national amateur champion, and since deserting the amateurs he has beaten Young Britt, Johnny Noonan and Frankie McManus in decisive fashion. He has also beaten six other boxers of less note. Boyle opened his winter campaign in startling form, beating Joe Morgan of Manchester in ten frames and knocking out that rugged Young Chakas. This was the first time the Little Greek was ever forced to stop before the end of a bout. At New Bedford, Oct. 25th, Boyle will meet a strong boxer, Peter Hartley of Denmark, who weighs about 125 pounds, and his manager, Leo Flynn, said a few days ago that Hartley is the best looking product in New York today.

Charles White will show his hitting powers at Boston tonight, when he meets Johnny Harvey, a New York boxer. Harvey has boxed Johnny Griffin of Akron, O. twice, Joe Rivers, Sammy Trott, Matty Baldwin, and he succeeded in holding his own with all of them. He knocked out Baldwin in three rounds at New Haven a few months ago. In meeting White, Harvey stacks up against the hardest hitter in the lightweight class and a boxer who can bring a bout to a quick close. If he lands on an opponent's jaw with his left hand. Two weeks after the Harvey battle White mingles with Milburn ("Young") Taylor in a return battle at Boston. Taylor gave the Little Greek a terrible beating when they met before Referee Billy Roche decided it was an even thing, but he was the only one in the arena who thought so.

According to the Boston Traveler, Young LeGore states no one has replied to the challenge he issued to the champions of New England. If memory serves me right, I think our local boy Gardner (Joe) Brooks, snapped up the defy without a moment's delay, but LeGore must have thought of that walloping he took about a year ago at the hands of Brooks, although LeGore received the decision. If LeGore really wants to clash with Brooks let him say something or sneak back into his shell and admit he is afraid to meet Brooks again.

Nike Gibbons will probably clash with Jeff Smith at New York in the near future. Smith has only recently returned from Australia where he made a fine showing. He only lost a few verdicts and all of them were questionable. He is now on the London circuit, a strong opponent for the St. Paul Phantom and a large crowd would turn out to witness this high class card should it be arranged.

Tonight is the night that Frank Moran and Jim Coffey get together at New York to settle the question of supremacy. Moran, it will be remembered, fought Jack Johnson 20 rounds in Paris, not so long ago, while he beat Bombardier Wells easily. Coffey has only two newspaper decisions against him. Tom McLaughlin and Charley Wier are the two men who are credited with whipping the Dublin giant, but it is doubtful if they could stay the distance at the present time. Coffey is looked upon to beat the one time hopeless hope, and a record attendance is expected to crowd Madison Square garden this evening. Henry Leonard and Young Drumble are to clash in the semi-windup. Leonard and Coffey are managed by Billy Gibson, manager of the Garden A. C., where the shows are held.

TRD LEWIS DEFEATS MOORE PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 19.—Ted Lewis, the brilliant English boxer, gave a dazzling exhibition of footwork and biding from all angles in defeating Willie Moore at the Olympia A. C. last night. The bout went the limit of six rounds, and in every round except the fifth Lewis had all the better of the fighting. At the conclusion of the contest he had Moore's eyes damaged and Willie was bleeding from the nose.

GREG BEATS GEORGE CHIP

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 19.—Harry Greg bested George Chip, the former lightweight champion, in a fast six-round bout in the Duquesne garden last night.

MITCHELL BEATS AZEVEDO

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 19.—Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee secured the biggest victory of his career last night by administering a clean defeat to Joe Azevedo, the great California Portuguese, in 10 rounds of fast milling. Mitchell began the slug-fest with the first round and kept it up until the battle, having the lead in practically every round or at least an even break.

MACK DEFEATS CONDON

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 19.—Tommy O'Keefe of Philadelphia, who was scheduled to box Frankie Mack of Beachmont here last night, failed to show up, sending word that he had been injured while training. On a hurry call to New York Harry Condon was secured, coming into the ring after riding all the afternoon. Mack battered him hard throughout the 15 rounds, landing his left jab almost at will; but Condon never failed to come in for more. He was outclassed all the way, but finished strong.

CHICK SHADES SWEENEY

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Joe Chick, the middleweight champion of New England, had a shade the better of a 10-round bout with "Knockout" Sweeney here last night. Chick carried the fight to his opponent, which was just to Sweeney's liking. The result was one of the fastest and best mills that has been seen in this vicinity.

AL SHUBERT WINS

PITTSFIELD, Oct. 19.—Al Shubert of New Bedford knocked Willie Brown of New York last night in their scheduled 10-round battle before the members of the 20th Century. A. C. Both boys showed considerable talent, and up to the seventh there was little choice between them, but in that session Shubert opened a cut over Brown's left eye and thereafter the New Yorker was bothered.

CARLSON DROPS CANTO

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 19.—Harry Carlson, the Brockton Cyclone, knocked out Jabez Canto of this city at the Lenox A. C. last night in the first 10 seconds of the second round of a 12-round scheduled bout.

ROBERT B. WARD DEAD

HEAD OF BREAD PLANTS IN MANY CITIES—WAS LEADING FIGURE ALSO IN FEDERAL B. B. LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Robert B. Ward, head of bread companies bearing his name in many cities, but most widely known as a leading figure in the Federal league and as president of the Brooklyn club, died last night at his home in New Rochelle after a brief illness. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Ward was born in this city, the son of a baker, and early in life followed that occupation, going to Pittsburgh, where he was in business, married and prospered. He became president of the common council of that city and at the time of his death was a director in many banks and financial institutions there. Later Mr. Ward came to New York and organized baking companies here and in Chicago. Boston, Buffalo and other cities.

Mr. Ward, a lifelong fan, became one of the chief financial supporters of the Federal league at the instance of its president, James A. Gilmore, early in 1914. He was chosen vice president of the league, organized the Brooklyn club and with his brother, George B. Ward, built the Washington navy, the home grounds. He was also credited with financing the Colonial league in New England. He was strongly opposed to Sunday baseball and never permitted the Brooklyn club to play on the Sabbath.

Mr. Ward was taken ill with rheumatism last Tuesday and had complications of the heart. He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary C. Brodwin of Pittsburgh, and nine children, five of them sons.

MR. MOTLEY WILL REMEDY MATTERS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE—HAS ORDERED RUFFLERS

In reference to the weird noise emanating from the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company at night, Mr. Geo. Motley, in conversation with a representative of the Sun today, said the noise is very much like the noise is objectionable, and he has taken steps to have it remedied at once. He has ordered a ruffler by which he hopes the noise will be overcome, and if that does not work he will have the noisy machinery pulled out altogether.

EIGHT SWEEPED TO DEATH

MEN AND WOMEN FROM POWER BOAT REACHED SHORE BUT WERE DRAGGED BACK INTO SEA

POINT ARENA, Cal., Oct. 19.—One after another, seven men and two women who had fought their way on Malpass rocks, after escaping yesterday from the wrecked gasoline schooner Alliance No. 2, were dragged back into the sea by pursuing combos. Eight were swept to death. Rafael Mediner was flung ashore alive. H. H. Jones of Vancouver, the mate, was the only other member of the ship's company of 10 that was saved.

When the schooner, which sailed from Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 9, for Mazatlan, Shalala, filled up on Malpass rocks early yesterday, she had on board Capt. Deloucheby, F. E. Harrington, chief engineer; J. S. Walsh, second engineer; H. R. Jones, mate; A. Allen, cook; — Bailie, purser; Miguel Abila, owner; Miss Abila, Miss Miller and Rafael Mediner, Abila's servant.

The two women and all the men except Jones, who remained on the vessel, aided one another over the side as the schooner was being smashed to pieces, but could not mount high enough on the rocks to escape the clutch of the sea.

Soon after the pounding bulk broke in two, flinging Jones into the sea, the ship's body died within his reach and he climbed into it. Mediner was tossed upon the beach unconscious.

Abila, the owner, was said to be a close friend of Gen. Carranza and was taking the vessel to Mexico for use in Carranza's service.

NAVY DEPT. CONTRACTS

BIDS FOR BUILDING OF SIXTEEN SUBMARINES AND SIX DESTROYERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Contracts for 16 submarines and six destroyers were awarded yesterday by the navy department. One destroyer will be built at the Norfolk navy yard and one at Mare Island, California. Four of the submarines will be built on the Pacific coast. The Bremerton, Wash., and the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yards each will build one.

The four destroyers to be built at private yards were awarded as follows:

Cramp & Sons Co., two at $845,000 each.

Seattle Construction and Drydock Co., one at $855,000.

Both Iron Works, one at $879,500.

The total of the awards is $4,923,443. All the boats will have a minimum speed of 30 knots an hour and will displace 1125 tons each.

Delivery to the government is required in from 13 to 20 months.

The submarine contracts awarded to private firms were as follows:

Electric Boat Co., eight; Lake Torpedo Boat Co., three; California Shipbuilding Co., Long Beach, Cal., three.

"It is interesting to note," said Secretary Daniels, in awarding the contracts, "that the six destroyers and 16 submarines constitute the greatest number of contracts for new construction ever awarded in the history of the navy department at one time."

"The destroyers will be built in the main in accordance with the department's designs, except in the case of the one boat to be built by the Bath Iron Works, which will be according to the bidder's design of machinery, for which the company guarantees results in speed and cruising radius somewhat in excess of those required by the department."

"The order for the construction of one of these vessels at each of the Mare Island and Norfolk navy yards is in pursuance of the department's policy of equipping and developing our navy yards to the highest point of efficiency in times of peace, so that they may be prepared for the greater strains which would be thrown on these organizations in time of war."

BIG SHIPMENT OF GOLD

LARGEST SENT FROM ENGLAND

ARRIVED AT NEW YORK TODAY

—WORTH $25,000,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The latest shipment of gold from England to the United States, said to be larger than any of the previous consignments, arrived today and was placed in the assay office. The gold is said to consist chiefly of British sovereigns and to be worth approximately $25,000,000. The gold was consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co., but no official announcement concerning the value of the shipment was made by that firm. It was learned that the coins will be melted into bullion bars and credited to the British government by the Morgan firm.

This latest shipment was surrounded by even more secrecy than the previous ones. While it had been rumored that a shipment of gold was on the way, nothing definite was known until eight large auto trucks arrived at the assay office.

During the negotiations for the $500,000,000 loan to Great Britain and France the loan commissioners announced that shipments of gold and American securities would be made from time to time in an effort to further stabilize foreign exchange.

SUES UNITED SHOE CO.

GOVERNMENT DEMANDS BUSINESS PRACTICES BE ENDED UNDER ANTI-TRUST LAW

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—The first important government suit under the Clayton anti-trust act was begun here yesterday by Attorney General Gregory against the United Shoe Machinery company.

The petition filed in the federal district court charges the shoe company with unlawful practices that substantially lessen competition and tend to monopoly.

Temporary and permanent injunctions are sought.

The suit is distinct from that against the same concern under the Sherman anti-trust act, begun several years ago, in which its dissolution as an unlawful combination and monopoly in restraint of trade was sought and which now is before the United States supreme court.

The present action does not seek dissolution, but asks the court to enjoin the company perpetually from further engaging in alleged unlawful practices. There also is the usual prayer for such other "general further relief" as the court may see fit to give.

One of the unusual features is that the petition contains a request for a temporary order restraining the United Shoe company from resorting to the practices complained of until determination of the suit.

SILENT PROTEST AGAINST MONITORIZATION CHANGES IN WOBURN FIRE HOUSES

WOBURN, Oct. 19.—As a silent but expressive protest against the changes yesterday in the fire department, the doors of Hose 3 house here long streamers of crape. By the terms of the change in equipment leading to the modernization of the department 31 men were retired and five houses backed up after stripping them of the accumulations of the years. The discarded hose wagons will be stored in the vacant hook and ladder house on Mortvale av.

Yesterday was a day of griefs to old-time quaffers and associations, and there was a bit of sentiment in the feeling that Hose 3 house in mourning and caused members of disbanded companies to assemble for the purpose of "having their pictures taken" as a memento of long-time comradeship.

Dammer Street Extension

The city engineer has submitted the following letter relative to the seizure of land in connection with the extension of Dammer street to the municipal council:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 18, 1913.

Gentlemen:—I herewith submit a plan and estimate on the taking of the land bounded by Market street, Maiden lane, Forebark street, and the line of the church.

As you will see by the appended report of the board of assessors, the assessed valuation of the land and buildings in question amounts to fifty-one thousand six hundred fifty dollars.

The Humane society, has started a campaign against the merchants of Market street district for the improvement of poultry which is on sale in front of their premises. Mr. Gilmore was formed that hens were being grown in small crates and in this manner was greatly phased.

This morning the Humane society paid a visit to the district and found crates in which were crowded thirty or forty hens, when according to the law, the most the said crates could hold would be to the number of six. He notified the store keeper that he could not place any more than ten in each crate and he wanted them if they would be presented if ever again. Mr. Gilmore informed writer he will have copies of the printed in a paper columns and a

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

Enthusiastic Gatherings at Draught, Chelmsford and Billerica Last Evening

The democratic town committee, chairman of Draught, North Billerica and Chelmsford performed respectively three fine bustling stunts in preparing for democratic rallies held in their towns last evening, on very short notice from the democratic state committee.

It was late Saturday night when the chairman were reached and informed to be prepared for rallies on Monday night and they hustled about to get the meeting places and make the other necessary arrangements.

In North Billerica Mr. Charles Cowdry engaged Union Hall, North Chelmsford John E. McManis prepared for his meeting in the town hall while at Draught John W. Brennan secured St. Mary's hall, at Collinsville. All three then made their announcements and as a result when the speakers arrived they found good sized crowds at each meeting place.

At North Billerica

At North Billerica, Mr. Cowdry called to order and introduced as the chairman of the evening former Rep. John J. Higgins, who is a candidate for reelection, and about to be given his second term. Mr. Higgins made a most interesting address dealing with the administration of Governor Walsh and the leading state issues. His familiarity with the important state issues showed the result of careful and intelligent study and observation during his first term in the legislature. He was well received and made a most favorable impression. Rep. Frederick Burke, candidate for senator in that district and one of the most popular members of the legislature made a fine impression. He is a forceful talker and discussed the state issues also referring to the head of the ticket in glowing terms. James Walsh, a nephew of Governor Walsh and a most promising young speaker aroused considerable enthusiasm as did James Ahearn, a well known Cambridge attorney and a well known democratic candidate for councillor in that district also spoke. There were about 150 present and considering the short notice on which the rally was held it was a big success.

Speakers at Collinsville

Major Thomas L. Walsh, brother of Governor Walsh, and quite as good a speaker and Christopher J. Fay, probably the oldest democratic stump speaker in the state spoke at Draught and Chelmsford, Major Walsh speaking at Draught while Mr. Fay was at Chelmsford.

Rep. John W. Brennan called to order at Collinsville and St. Mary's hall was well filled. Mr. Brennan spoke upon the reform in the workingmen's compensation act that had been brought about by Governor Walsh and referred to it as one of the greatest legislative achievements in the history of working people that has ever been recorded at the state house. Referring to his own candidacy he stated that representing both city and country interests he had carefully followed all legislation affecting the interest of the farmers and all affecting the interest of the laboring classes in the big manufacturing establishments of the city and of his own town. He stated that his record would show that without exception he had favored all measures beneficial to the farming interests and had opposed all that would operate against their interests, and had done likewise on all labor measures.

Major Walsh, who closely resembles the governor in appearance and view with him in popularity received an ovation as he rose to speak. Major Walsh stated that he took great interest in the fact that David I. Walsh was the first young man spring from the common classes who has held the responsible position of governor of the commonwealth, and has held it with honor and success. The official acts of the governor since his election have shown, he said, that character and position alone was necessary to enable one to be elected to the highest position in the state and to carry out the obligations of that position in proper manner. Conscience and consideration for the benefit of the more useful had governed his actions throughout his term of office, this character he manifested when he vetoed the milk bill and thus earned the antagonism of a large section of the voters of the commonwealth; but this did not deter the governor from doing what was right. It was through Governor Walsh's efforts, he said, that the workingmen's compensation act had been amended to give half a week's wages to anyone incapacitated for a certain length of time through injury sustained while working and that widows and orphans were now prevented from becoming destitute. This and his many other unselfish actions entitled Governor Walsh to another term. He reviewed the governor's official acts and defied his opponents to point to anything against him either personally or officially. By his reelection the voters would show that they are fully alive to their duties and responsibilities.

As Major Walsh left the hall Christopher J. Fay arrived from Chelmsford and was introduced and he was enthusiastically received.

James P. Dunnigan, of North Chelmsford who was present, was called to the platform and introduced Mr. Dunnigan spoke briefly in behalf of the entire ticket. Mr. Dunnigan who is personally well known to a Draught audience received a warm welcome.

At North Chelmsford

A large and enthusiastic gathering assembled at the town hall, in North Chelmsford where the rally was presided over by Dr. James P. Hoban, in the absence of John E. McManis, the town chairman. Dr. Hoban was able to speak of Gov. Walsh from the standpoint of a close personal friend for they were neighbors in boyhood's days and subsequently were classmates at college. Dr. Hoban spoke on the governor's exemplary life as a college student, a private citizen and a public official.

Christopher J. Fay who made his first appearance at North Chelmsford in 13 years dropped in on his old friend, Rev. Edmund T. Schofield, before going to the meeting. He is well known all the other residents of the village and was warmly received when introduced by Dr. Hoban. Mr. Fay stated that he had been advancing the cause of the democratic party for 40 years and was more enthusiastic today than at any time in that long period of activity. He was proud to be able to argue the cause of Gov. Walsh whom he believed to be one of the most brilliant and able men that has ever sat in the governor's chair. He dwelt upon the policies carried out by Hon. Woodrow Wilson and stated that the American people owes him a lasting debt of gratitude for keeping this country out of the war that is being waged in Europe. The policies of President Wilson, he said, are thoroughly upheld by Gov. Walsh. Speaking of the appointments made by Gov. Walsh, he stated that while they did not please everybody, as is ever the case in the making of appointments, it cannot be denied that character had entered into the governor's selections. He made a patriotic reference to conditions in this country at the present time, appealing to the younger citizens to consider well their responsibilities as a part of the electorate of the grandest republic under the sun and said that today there is no such thing as a hyphenated American. True democrats are Americans, pure and simple. If they consider this important question in its true light, and what is now at stake, young and old, descendants of all races and nationalities will do their duty as good American citizens by re-electing Gov. Walsh.

Prior to the arrival of Major Walsh, John J. Hogan addressed the gathering. He pointed out that the democratic party is endeavoring to give all a share of the same opportunity which would enable them to obtain the same advantages regardless of the station in life. He referred to the university of the working classes are to be greatly benefited, and he eulogized the governor for his successful efforts in behalf of these measures.

Major Walsh was the concluding speaker and as in Draught he aroused the enthusiasm of the audience to a high pitch.

HEAD OF AN ALLEGED $1,000,000 FRAUD FREED BY PRES. WILSON

Head of an Alleged $1,000,000 Fraud Freed by Pres. Wilson

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—President Wilson, while traveling to Princeton today, announced that he had granted a pardon to Cameron Spear, sentenced to five years in the Atlanta penitentiary for unlawfully using the mails in connection with the Collins-Walsh telephone case. It was alleged at the trial that $1,000,000 of fraudulent stock was sold. He was convicted in the United States district court at New York.

President Wilson worked on the Spear and other pardon cases and on correspondence throughout his trip from Washington. He dictated steadily to his stenographer.

Spear has already served one year beyond his parole period, and was represented to the president as wasting away in the penitentiary from disease. In the absence of Attorney General Gregory recently Solicitor General Davis recommended to the president the application for the pardon be denied.

When a former application for a pardon for Spear was pending, former United States Attorney Wiley in New York pointed out that Spear was the "head and brains" of the alleged fraud. Claiming that they had patents on a device that would take the place of old style telephones and supplant the telegraph, Spear and his associates sold stock in their concern to the public.

REPORT OF OVERSEERS OF THE POOR INDICATES FAR BETTER CONDITIONS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—There are fewer men able and willing to work out of employment in Boston at the present time than in a long time, according to statistics given at the office of the board of overseers of the poor and at the Hawkins Street Workmen's lodge. The great demand for workmen of ordinary capacity in the machine shops of New England, particularly in Bridgeport, a call for husky men in the woods of Maine to cut timber and demands by the railroads for laboring men is the reason given.

According to the annual report of the overseers of the poor for 1914, in the first 17 days of October last year 1333 men were given lodgings at the Hawkins street home. Thus far this month but 723 have applied for shelter there. In August and September last year there were a total of 3766 given lodging, but this year during those two months but 1349 applied.

These figures officials of the poor department say, indicate a better state of business in general. William H. Hardy, secretary to the board says it does not look forward to such a hard winter as was experienced in 1914 and 1915.

The annual report of the poor department came from the printer yesterday. It showed that the number of families assisted during last year was 4507, an increase of 1529 families over the year previous.

The report states, relative to the conditions last winter: "Owing to the lack of large contracts in the business world, the number of laboring men out of work was unusually large. Especially was this true in the building trades of the North End. The longshoremen, too, were deprived of their usual jobs by reason of the embargo on shipping business caused by the war."

"Applicants from these two classes of able-bodied men with families dependent upon them thronged our offices and necessitated our using additional rooms. Ordinarily the percentage of families aided by work is exceedingly small. This year, on account of the reasons given above, the number of this class of applicants was such that our resources were taxed to the utmost."

U. S. NOTE TO GERMANY

PUBLICATION OF LATEST COMMUNICATION ON FRYE CASE REVEALS AMERICAN VIEWS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Publication last night of the text of the latest note sent by the United States to Germany, William E. Frye, reveals that the United States does not regard an opportunity to escape in life boats as sufficient safety for passengers and crew of any American vessel destroyed when carrying contraband.

In the note, which is dated Oct. 12, Secretary Lansing expressed satisfaction that Germany agreed to the American proposal for a joint commission of experts to fix damages for the loss of the Frye, sunk by the commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, and concurs in the suggestion from Berlin that it is not necessary to appoint an umpire in advance.

In agreeing to submit to arbitration differences which have arisen over the destruction of the Prussian-American treaty of 1913, the United States places on record its understanding that no rights are waived in the interval.

DOG KEEPS DEATH VIGIL

LOUIS A. STILES' BODY FOUND IN WESTFIELD—HUNTER VICTIM OF ACCIDENTAL SHOT

WESTFIELD, Oct. 19.—The body of Louis A. Stiles, aged 31, was found by a faithful Abreale, formerly found at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon by William Roach on the bank of Harvey's brook, five miles from the center of the town in what is known as the Pochoasick district. A bullet from a 38-caliber revolver caused his death.

Searching party, numbering fully 75, had been out all day, and included in the number were several officers sent out by the selectmen and police department.

Mr. Stiles started out at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to go on hunting in the Tekoa Hollow section, and took his father's dog. In fact, the return yesterday caused alarm and a search was begun.

While Mr. Roach was taking a drink from the brook, the dog, which had not left the body, came up behind him and put one paw on his back. The body was found 100 feet away.

When the hunter caused his death entered just below the heart and lodged in his right side just above the hip.

Medical Examiner Edward S. Smith viewed the body and is satisfied that death was due to an accident.

After he had been shot Mr. Stiles took off his coat, sweater and shirt. The revolver and his lantern were in the brook near the body.

Mr. Stiles was a bridge worker and an expert woodsman.

He was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternities.

HELLO, FRISCO! HELLO, PORTLAND

Transcontinental Demonstration at Portland, Me. Last Evening—Admiral Peary Speaker

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 19.—At a transcontinental telephonic demonstration here last night, when members of the Portland Rotary club held conversation with San Francisco, Rear Admiral Peary repeated his prediction of a Taiter States of America which would include the entire western continent. Said Admiral Peary:

"The next great step in world progress may be a friendly understanding between all American nations, which will be the beginning of a greater United States of America, seated on two continents, occupying a hemisphere stretching from pole to pole. Such a federation would be a powerful force for world federation. And with flying and the wireless, and this modern miracle, the telephone, which has just now enabled us to talk nearly 4000 miles, and which, in the near future, will permit the North pole to talk with the South pole, such a federation will be no longer than were the 13 original little colonies years ago, without the wireless or telephone or telegraph or railways or steamboats. Do not misunderstand me. There is no thought of conquest in this idea."

HEAVY LOSSES FOR BULGARS

PARIS, Oct. 19, 2:10 p. m.—Heavy losses for the Bulgarians in the fighting which preceded the capture by the allies of Strumitza is reported in a despatch from Saloniki to Milan as forwarded to the Havas News agency. It is asserted that entire battalions of Bulgarians were annihilated by the Franco-Serbian forces.

British as well as French troops, the despatch says, took an important part in the engagements northwest of Dolian near the Vardar river and at Valonovo, in the northern sector. At the latter point the Bulgarians made a counter attack but subsequently fell across the frontier, pursued by Serbians.

MRS. PETERSON FELL FROM SECOND STORY OF ARLINGTON HOUSE

ARLINGTON, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Alma Peterson of 48 Ray street, Dorchester, is at the Sydnay hospital here in a very precarious condition with a broken neck, the result of a fall from the second story of a house in which she was working yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Peterson goes out working to support her three children and yesterday was at the home of G. Elmer Allen at 15 Plymouth street. Mrs. Peterson started to clean the window.

After reaching out Mrs. Peterson caught hold of a screen to steady herself and this gave way. She fell onto a granite walk, striking on her head. Dr. Guy E. Sanger was called and the injured woman was rushed to the hospital. Mrs. Harold H. Webb and F. J. Sweeney were called in and it was found that the woman's neck was broken and that her body from the hips down was paralyzed.

Last night Mrs. Peterson was still alive and the attending physician stated that she had a chance to live, although the break is a bad one.

DOG KEEPS DEATH VIGIL

LOUIS A. STILES' BODY FOUND IN WESTFIELD—HUNTER VICTIM OF ACCIDENTAL SHOT

WESTFIELD, Oct. 19.—The body of Louis A. Stiles, aged 31, was found by a faithful Abreale, formerly found at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon by William Roach on the bank of Harvey's brook, five miles from the center of the town in what is known as the Pochoasick district. A bullet from a 38-caliber revolver caused his death.

Searching party, numbering fully 75, had been out all day, and included in the number were several officers sent out by the selectmen and police department.

Mr. Stiles started out at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to go on hunting in the Tekoa Hollow section, and took his father's dog. In fact, the return yesterday caused alarm and a search was begun.

While Mr. Roach was taking a drink from the brook, the dog, which had not left the body, came up behind him and put one paw on his back. The body was found 100 feet away.

When the hunter caused his death entered just below the heart and lodged in his right side just above the hip.

Medical Examiner Edward S. Smith viewed the body and is satisfied that death was due to an accident.

After he had been shot Mr. Stiles took off his coat, sweater and shirt. The revolver and his lantern were in the brook near the body.

Mr. Stiles was a bridge worker and an expert woodsman.

He was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternities.

An inquest will be held.
